First U. S. Test Satellite May Be Fired Dec. 4

Navy Scientists Reveal Plans for Launching Sphere

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy scientists hope to launch the first U.S. test satellite a week from Wednesday—just two months after Russia's pioneer Sputnik was fired into distant space.

A source high in the Vanguard satellite project said Dec. 4 has been picked for the attempt to send aloft a six-pound sphere six inches in diameter.

The attempt, he said, will be made about dawn at the U.S. Missile Test Center, Cape Canaveral, Fla. If conditions are not right at that time, the source said, another effort will be made perhaps two days later.

Plans call for one or more launchings of small test spheres in December, with a fully instrumented 21-pound satellite to be fired in March. There has been some talk of a January launching of the fully developed satellite if the test succeeds.

• •

MOSCOW RADIO said Russia's Sputnik I, launched Oct. 4, still was going strong. But it said the rocket that carried the satellite aloft, and went into orbit at the same time, is expected to drop to destruction in the dense layers of the earth's atmosphere during the first 10 days of December.

The London, the British Supply Ministry predicted the rocket will fall this weekend, probably Friday. It said also it expects Sputnik I to come down in mid-January and Sputnik II early in February, but it said these forecasts were less definite.

The Project Vanguard source who told of plans to fire the test satellite next week said it will be aimed southeastward and adjusted for a generally equatorial orbit.

If all goes as planned, he said, it should enter an orbit that would carry it to altitudes varying from 300 to 1,200 miles above the earth.

A 72-foot launching assembly weighing more than 22,000 pounds will be used.

The informant said the test sphere will have four tiny solar batteries fastened to the outside, plus four or six antennas. Radio signals will be transmitted continuously on 108 megacycles.

The batteries, drawing their power from the sun, are planned to last as long as the satellite itself. No estimate was given on the expected life span on this test vehicle.

The baby satellite will not be equipped with special telemetering instruments expected to go into the fully developed artificial moon. Thus, the test sphere will send back no information about conditions in space.

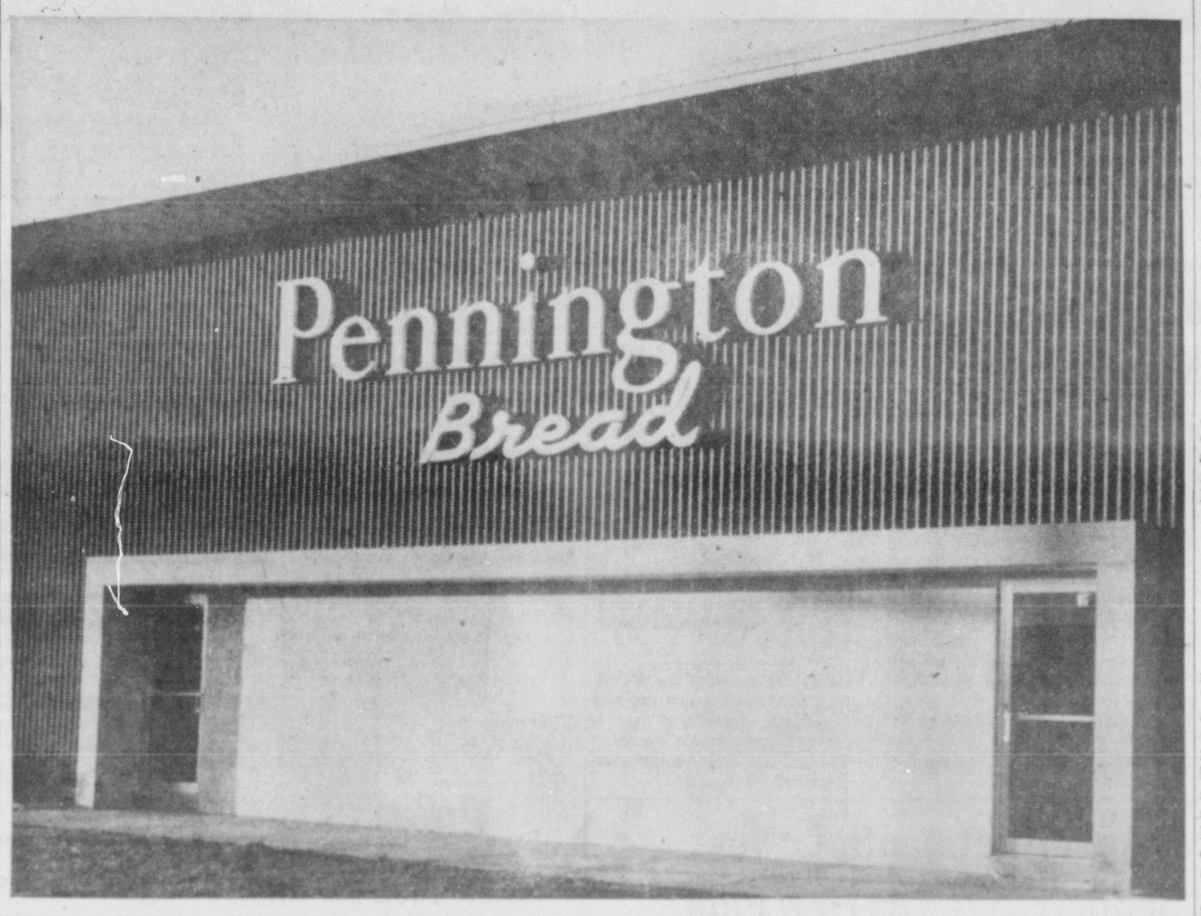

Ailing Tito Hinted Changing Setup

BELGRADE (AP)—President Tito, 66 and ailing with lumbago, was reported today preparing to revamp Yugoslavia's government and party lineups in a move to lighten his own work load.

Informed Belgrade sources said he plans to make Edvard Kardelj the leader of the Yugoslav government and Aleksandar Rankovic the leader of the Yugoslav Communist party.

Kardelj and Randovic, two of Tito's closest collaborators, are now vice presidents.

Pennington in Commercial Production

New WCH Bakery Completes Tests

The million-dollar Pennington plant on Clinton Ave. swung into commercial production for the Washington C. H. marketing area early Tuesday.

The modern, automatic plant, which grew out of the rubble left by a disastrous fire in June of 1956, was not turning out all of the bread required for the local distribution area Tuesday, but Howard G. Wright, Pennington Corp. vice president and production manager, said that the output will be stepped up day by day.

By Monday it is anticipated that every loaf of Pennington bread will be produced here, although buns and rolls will be turned out at the firm's Cincinnati plant for possible another week.

By the end of next week all production of Pennington baked goods will be centralized in the Washington C. H. bakery.

• • •

THE CINCINNATI plant, which supplied the entire, Pennington market area during the rebuilding of the local bakery, will then be turned over to a lessee.

• • •

COMMERCIAL production of bread here followed a long series of tests which have resulted in a product which company officials described as "extremely high" in quality.

The new mechanized Clinton Ave. plant will take the place of the three bakeries formerly operated by the Pennington Corp.

The increased production at the local plant will offset any reduction in employment which would have resulted from the automation built into the new bakery. Total employment when all departments are in full operation here will be approximately the same as before the fire. That means around 200 people with a payroll in excess of a million dollars a year.

A community-wide financial assistance drive sparked by the Chamber of Commerce helped assure the rebuilding of the plant here after the corporation had investigated sites in other cities near the center of the distribution area. The appeal netted $30,000 which was added to a $20,000 balance in the C. of C. Industrial Development Fund.

FIRST COMMERCIAL LOAF—Howard G. Wright, vice president and production manager of Pennington Bread, Inc., and Mrs. Joe Tillet, a member of the Pennington office staff, inspect the first commercial loaf of bread produced at the new million-dollar bakery on Clinton Ave. Actual commercial production for Washington C. H. area markets began early today after several weeks of oven testing.

Moscow Says U. S., British Eye Sahara Oil

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio today reiterated charges that the United States and Britain are trying "to shoulder France out of North Africa" so they can take over the Sahara Desert's rich oil deposits.

The English-language broadcast clearly was intended to increase the present French dissatisfaction with Washington and London.

It said the desire of American and British oil interests to control the Sahara explained the U. S.-British decision to send arms to Tunisia.

Washington and London have denied any such motivation.

Meanwhile, French authorities today imposed a travel ban throughout the oil - rich areas of the Sahara "in order to insure the security of oil exploitations."

The ban applies to reporters who previously could easily visit the growing oil installations of Hassi Messaoud, Toughgourt and Biskra.

French authorities said the ban was enacted to prevent vital information from leaking to Algerian rebels who have been active around the area for weeks.

Weekend Drinking Problem Is Solved

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Sam A. McMillan, 57, of Meadville, won't have to worry about drinking on weekends for 10 weeks.

When he pleaded guilty to a drunken driving charge in Crawford County Court Monday, he told Judge Herbert A. Mook that he drinks only on weekends. He added that it would work a financial hardship on his family if he were sent to jail.

Judge Mook solved McMillan's drinking and financial problems. The judge told McMillan he may remain free on weekdays but must serve the next 10 weekends in jail from 6:30 p.m. Fridays to 6:30 a.m. Mondays.

Dixiecrats Assured of Vote On Ike's Civil Rights Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern Democratic senators were assured today of an opportunity to vote on President Eisenhower's choice of Asst. Atty. Gen. W. Wilson White to head the new Civil Rights Division in the Justice Department.

The White House announced that Eisenhower will give White a recess appointment to the new post. White, 51, now is in charge of legal counseling for the dein for the new job next week.

Anne Wheaton, associate presidential news secretary, said White will resign from his present position and that he will be nominated formally for the new post when Congress reconvenes in January.

This scotched speculation that since White already had been confirmed as an assistant attorney general, Eisenhower might shift him to the new job without sending a nomination to the Senate.

Such speculation brought an angry protest from Sen. Thurmond (D-SC) who staged a record one-man filibuster in an unsuccessful effort to block passage of the civil rights bill in the last Senate session.

MRS. WHEATON said both Eisenhower and White felt the appointment should be considered by the Senate because of the importance of the job.

Nominations of this sort are handled by the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), an avowed foe of civil rights legislation.

Meanwhile, another Southern legislator, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), who recently returned from the Far East, said Monday that talk that the Little Rock school integration controversy hurt U. S. influence abroad had been greatly over-emphasized.

"The feeling where I visited was that those nations had their racial problems just as we do," he said.

Sputnik, he added, had a far different effect.

"You talk about something that hit us hard, well Sputnik did," Sparkman said. "That was all they were talking about."

Soviet Land-Fired Missile Said Tops

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. James Doolittle (ret.) testified today that Russia "certainly is ahead of us" in all land-fired missiles. He said the United States leads in air-to-air types.

Doolittle, who heads the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, told the Senate Preparedness subcommittee that this country fell behind the Soviets because it had no coordinated program until 1953.

He said the Russians started missile developments in 1946 and "they have been working harder at it than we have."

Doolittle's testimony was in direct contradiction of contentions by former President Truman who said he organized a unified missile program while in the White House but that it was allowed to deteriorate under the Eisenhower administration.

Doolittle, a famed flier who led the first World War II air raid on Japan, was the first witness of the Senate subcommittee's second day of hearings on the U. S. missile situation.

• •

BASED ON the first day of hearings, when a group of scientists were heard, Chairman Johnson (D-Tex) said he regards the Russians lead in missiles as "only a symbol of an even greater danger" that the United States may fall behind in the weapons of the future.

It is quite possible, he said, that by the time the intercontinental ballistic missile is fully developed "it will be fully obsolete."

"We must, of course, catch up with Russia in missile developments," he said.

"But catching up in this field alone is not enough to safeguard our security. We must raise our level of technology to the point where we are not only ready to meet the Soviets on any ground but to get there first."

Three prominent scientists told the Johnson's Senate subcommittee the United States is lagging far behind Russia in the training of scientists and technological experts. The three, Dr. Edward Teller, Dr. Vannevar Bush and Dr. John Chipman, agreed that it is imperative for this country to speed up its missile production.

Teller said he thinks the sharing of knowledge between U. S. agencies engaged in the missile program has been "less than complete."

He said also he thinks there should be a greater exchange of information between this country and its European allies.

2 Graves Prove To Be Empty

WAUTOMA, Wis. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Earl Kileen says excavation of two graves convinces him that Edward Gein actually did raid cemeteries for parts of nine bodies found in his farm home.

Waushara County authorities Monday reopened two graves in the Plainfield Cemetery to check the story of the 51-year-old man.

Gein, who is undergoing 30 days of mental observation, admitted killing two women and robbing the graves of nine other women.

He is charged with first-degree murder in the death Nov. 16 of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, a hardware store operator. He also admitted killing Mrs. Mary Hogan, a tavernkeeper, Dec. 9, 1954.

Authorities opened the graves of Mrs. Eleanore Adams and Mrs. Mabel Everson, both buried in 1951. Their names were on the list of women whose graves Gein said he looted.

• • •

MRS. ADAMS' casket was empty. The other coffin also was empty, but Kileen said a few bones and a small prying bar were found in the dirt above the empty casket.

"As far as I am concerned, the opening of these two graves verifies Gein's story," Kileen said.

He said any further excavations will be "a state matter," adding that if Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck "believes that opening the others is necessary, we will open them all. This deal is too big for Waushara County."

Honeck entered the case upon orders from Gov. Vernon Thomson. The attorney general directed Charles Wilson, head of the state crime laboratory, to continue with all steps necessary to assure a complete investigation.

Morocco King, Dulles Confer

State Secretary Subs For Ike in Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today substituted for ailing President Eisenhower in reviewing North African problems with Morocco's visiting King Mohammed V.

Dulles moved in as a last-minute replacement after an illness the White House described as "a chill" caused Eisenhower's doctors to order him to bed.

In a dinner toast Monday night, Vice President Nixon lauded the 48-year-old Moroccan ruler as "a great statesman" for his efforts to turn his nation into a bridge between the Arab countries and Europe.

On behalf of Eisenhower, Nixon presented the Legion of Merit to the Moroccan King and read Eisenhower's citation, which said of Mohammed: "No friend of the United States has shown himself more dedicated to the perpetuation of peace, and more perceptive of the necessity of safeguarding the ideals of all peaceful nations."

• • •

THE KING responded that his state visit and conferences "will further strengthen confidence and respect between our two peoples and open the way to a close and fruitful cooperation."

The Mohammed - Dulles talks seemed likely to focus mainly on three issues—the future of five American military bases in Morocco, the amount of American aid and the King's hopes of ending the battle between French forces and Algerian rebels.

Top American authorities were reported confident that during his three-day stay the King would give solid assurances of continuing long-term leases on the U. S. bases originally negotiated with France in 1950.

In return, Mohammed was expected to press for stepped - up American economic aid, and possibly military assistance, to back up the help the French government has pledged for his newly independent land.

President Said Progressing OK

Chief Suffers 'Chill', Is Confined in Bed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Eisenhower is "progressing satisfactorily" but that doctors are making "a further evaluation of his illness."

Eisenhower suffered what the White House described as a "chill" Monday shortly after he returned from the National Airport where he welcomed King Mohammed V of Morocco.

A 10:22 a. m. White House announcement raised the question whether the illness might be more serious than originally thought.

Asked if indications were that the President's condition might be more serious than originally indicated, Associate White House Press Secretary Anne Wheaton declined any comment. She refused, despite repeated questions from reporters, to go beyond her brief announcement.

The statement followed an earlier announcement that the President "is progressing very well."

Vice President Nixon and Atty. Gen. Rogers were at the White House during the morning but there was no indication whether their visit had any relation to Eisenhower's illness.

Nixon's office said he had gone there to sit in on a conference between King Mohammed and Secretary of State Dulles, in which Dulles substituted for Eisenhower. The attorney general is a frequent visitor.

In the event Eisenhower was incapacitated, Nixon and Rogers would be key figures in moves to keep the government going.

• • •

CONCERN OVER Eisenhower's condition was heightened by his 1955 heart attack and last year's operation for ileitis.

Asked why it is necessary to make "a further evaluation" of a "chill," Mrs. Wheaton said "I can't discuss that."

She also said she did not know if there was any indication the President's illness amounted to more than a "chill."

She would not say who drew up the statement beyond saying it was the work of "two or three people."

Likewise Mrs. Wheaton declined to say whether any doctors besides the two who ordinarily attend the President have been called in. Eisenhower's doctors are Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder and Lt. Col. Walter Tkach.

She said no thought was being given to the President's delivering from the White House tonight the speech on international cooperation which he originally planned to deliver in Cleveland.

After greeting the Moroccan King at the chilly airport Monday noon, Eisenhower had ridden with him in a downtown parade. He returned to his desk but quit work shortly afterward.

The doctors' orders kept Eisenhower from attending a White

Christmas Home Decoration Sponsored by Jaycees Again

Plans for this year's Christmas home decoration contest were outlined by the Washington C. H. Junior Chamber of Commerce at Monday night's meeting.

The contest, sponsored by the Jaycees, will be handled by them from start to finish. The decorations will be judged the evening of Dec. 23.

As in previous years, first and second place awards will be made in each of the four wards and a grand prize will be given to the best decorated home in the city.

As an added incentive this year, the Jaycees agreed to participat in the $5,000 nationwide contest sponsored by the General Electric Co. The entry judged as the best in the city will be photographed in color and entered in the nationwide competition. Owner of the home has a chance to share in the $5,000 award.

The Jaycees also approved a proposal to participate in a program sponsored by the national Jaycee organization "To Put Christ Back in Christmas." To do this, it was brought out, ministers of the churches in the community will be asked to emphasize this phase of the Yuletide and merchants will be asked to devote part of their display windows to it. Details will be worked out later.

John Sagar Jr. was selected as the Jaycees as their organization's candidate for sultan in the "High Fever Follies," a home talent comedy to be presented Dec. 11 and 12 in the high school auditorium under the sponsorship of the Fayette County Medical Assn. Auxiliary.

70 Japanese Students Protest Okinawa Action

TOKYO (AP) — Seventy Japanese students marched on the U.S. Embassy today, and demonstrated against the ouster of leftist Kamejiro Senaga as mayor of Naha, Okinawa.

The Naha City Assembly voted Senaga out of office 17-10 Monday after the U.S. high commissioner ordered a change in the law so that a quorum was no longer needed on a nonconfidence vote.

YAWATA, Japan (AP) — Eighteen miners were feared dead today after an accident at the Higashi Nakazuru coal mine near here.

Bond Sale To Be Considered At Extra City Board Session

The Washington C. H. Board of Education will hold a special meeting at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the superintendent's office to consider the question, "Shall the board adopt a resolution for advertising the sale of school building bonds?"

The board, at a meeting Nov. 18, agreed that it would favor disbanding the Fayette County Citizens Committee as a means of removing a roadblock to the sale of $645,000 in bonds.

The board's attorneys, Bricker, Marburger, Evatt, and Barton, Columbus, have informed city school authorities that the board cannot approve a certificate of non-litigation as long as the Citizens Committee is in existence.

City Supt. W. A. Smith said that the bond attorneys have held to this view despite a June 19 Ohio Supreme Court decision which ruled that the mere existence of a citizens committee does not restrict the right of a board of education to issue voted bonds.

• • •

BOARD PRESIDENT Robert Terhune and members William Lovell and Milbourne Flee assured a group of citizens present at the Nov. 18 meeting that they would seek to exhaust every legal means to sell the bonds which would pay the costs of new Eastside and Belle Aire grade school buildings and needed additions to Cherry Hill and Rose Ave. elementary buildings.

Board members Charles Pensyl and Elmer Reed were not present at the meeting but city-appointed members of the Citizens Committee sat in on the discussion.

Whether the Citizens Committee can be dissolved legally before it dies a natural death next July may be established Tuesday night when that body holds its regular monthly meeting at the Courthouse.

The meeting was moved up from Thursday which is Thanksgiving Day.

Representatives of Squires, Sanders and Dempsey, Cleveland, bond attorneys for the Miami Trace Board of Education and one of the oldest bonding firms in Ohio have told members of that board who asked what effect the existence of the Citizens Committee would have on the Miami Trace district's plans to sell bonds that the attorneys see no reason why they can not proceed when present Supreme Court litigation, to which the city district is not a party, is resolved.

"As far as I am concerned, the opening of these two graves verifies Gein's story," Kileen said.

He said any further excavations will be "a state matter," adding that if Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck "believes that opening the others is necessary, we will open them all. This deal is too big for Waushara County."

Honeck entered the case upon orders from Gov. Vernon Thomson. The attorney general directed Charles Wilson, head of the state crime laboratory, to continue with all steps necessary to assure a complete investigation.

Morocco King, Dulles Confer

State Secretary Subs For Ike in Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today substituted for ailing President Eisenhower in reviewing North African problems with Morocco's visiting King Mohammed V.

Dulles moved in as a last-minute replacement after an illness the White House described as "a chill" caused Eisenhower's doctors to order him to bed.

In a dinner toast Monday night, Vice President Nixon lauded the 48-year-old Moroccan ruler as "a great statesman" for his efforts to turn his nation into a bridge between the Arab countries and Europe.

On behalf of Eisenhower, Nixon presented the Legion of Merit to the Moroccan King and read Eisenhower's citation, which said of Mohammed: "No friend of the United States has shown himself more dedicated to the perpetuation of peace, and more perceptive of the necessity of safeguarding the ideals of all peaceful nations."

• • •

THE KING responded that his state visit and conferences "will further strengthen confidence and respect between our two peoples and open the way to a close and fruitful cooperation."

The Mohammed - Dulles talks seemed likely to focus mainly on three issues—the future of five American military bases in Morocco, the amount of American aid and the King's hopes of ending the battle between French forces and Algerian rebels.

Top American authorities were reported confident that during his three-day stay the King would give solid assurances of continuing long-term leases on the U. S. bases originally negotiated with France in 1950.

In return, Mohammed was expected to press for stepped - up American economic aid, and possibly military assistance, to back up the help the French government has pledged for his newly independent land.

President Said Progressing OK

Chief Suffers 'Chill', Is Confined in Bed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Eisenhower is "progressing satisfactorily" but that doctors are making "a further evaluation of his illness."

Eisenhower suffered what the White House described as a "chill" Monday shortly after he returned from the National Airport where he welcomed King Mohammed V of Morocco.

A 10:22 a. m. White House announcement raised the question whether the illness might be more serious than originally thought.

Asked if indications were that the President's condition might be more serious than originally indicated, Associate White House Press Secretary Anne Wheaton declined any comment. She refused, despite repeated questions from reporters, to go beyond her brief announcement.

The statement followed an earlier announcement that the President "is progressing very well."

Vice President Nixon and Atty. Gen. Rogers were at the White House during the morning but there was no indication whether their visit had any relation to Eisenhower's illness.

Nixon's office said he had gone there to sit in on a conference between King Mohammed and Secretary of State Dulles, in which Dulles substituted for Eisenhower. The attorney general is a frequent visitor.

In the event Eisenhower was incapacitated, Nixon and Rogers would be key figures in moves to keep the government going.

• • •

CONCERN OVER Eisenhower's condition was heightened by his 1955 heart attack and last year's operation for ileitis.

Asked why it is necessary to make "a further evaluation" of a "chill," Mrs. Wheaton said "I can't discuss that."

She also said she did not know if there was any indication the President's illness amounted to more than a "chill."

She would not say who drew up the statement beyond saying it was the work of "two or three people."

Likewise Mrs. Wheaton declined to say whether any doctors besides the two who ordinarily attend the President have been called in. Eisenhower's doctors are Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder and Lt. Col. Walter Tkach.

She said no thought was being given to the President's delivering from the White House tonight the speech on international cooperation which he originally planned to deliver in Cleveland.

After greeting the Moroccan King at the chilly airport Monday noon, Eisenhower had ridden with him in a downtown parade. He returned to his desk but quit work shortly afterward.

The doctors' orders kept Eisenhower from attending a White

Bond Sale To Be Considered At Extra City Board Session

The Washington C. H. Board of Education will hold a special meeting at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the superintendent's office to consider the question, "Shall the board adopt a resolution for advertising the sale of school building bonds?"

The board, at a meeting Nov. 18, agreed that it would favor disbanding the Fayette County Citizens Committee as a means of removing a roadblock to the sale of $645,000 in bonds.

The board's attorneys, Bricker, Marburger, Evatt, and Barton, Columbus, have informed city school authorities that the board cannot approve a certificate of non-litigation as long as the Citizens Committee is in existence.

City Supt. W. A. Smith said that the bond attorneys have held to this view despite a June 19 Ohio Supreme Court decision which ruled that the mere existence of a citizens committee does not restrict the right of a board of education to issue voted bonds.

• • •

BOARD PRESIDENT Robert Terhune and members William Lovell and Milbourne Flee assured a group of citizens present at the Nov. 18 meeting that they would seek to exhaust every legal means to sell the bonds which would pay the costs of new Eastside and Belle Aire grade school buildings and needed additions to Cherry Hill and Rose Ave. elementary buildings.

Board members Charles Pensyl and Elmer Reed were not present at the meeting but city-appointed members of the Citizens Committee sat in on the discussion.

Whether the Citizens Committee can be dissolved legally before it dies a natural death next July may be established Tuesday night when that body holds its regular monthly meeting at the Courthouse.

The meeting was moved up from Thursday which is Thanksgiving Day.

Representatives of Squires, Sanders and Dempsey, Cleveland, bond attorneys for the Miami Trace Board of Education and one of the oldest bonding firms in Ohio have told members of that board who asked what effect the existence of the Citizens Committee would have on the Miami Trace district's plans to sell bonds that the attorneys see no reason why they can not proceed when present Supreme Court litigation, to which the city district is not a party, is resolved.

Ike's Illness

House dinner Monday night for the king. Vice President Nixon substituted for him. A scheduled Eisenhower conference with the King today was canceled.

* * *

WORD OF THE 67-year - old President's latest illness brought questions from newsmen as to whether he might be developing the flu.

"I stand by my statement that he has a chill," Mrs. Wheaton replied.

Eisenhower was inoculated against Asian flu last Aug. 26. He had a head-to-toe physical checkup Nov. 10-11 and his doctors at that time pronounced him in excellent health.

After Monday night's state dinner at the White House, Nixon, who escorted Mrs. Eisenhower to the affair, said of the President's illness: "It is exactly what the White House has announced — a chill."

Eisenhower's "chill" freshened memory of the heart attack he suffered in September 1955, and of the intestinal illness which required surgery in June 1956.

Last January he developed a hacking cough which persisted for weeks. And last June he suffered a severe stomach upset which put him down in bed for a day.

PTA Council To Participate In Memorial to Miss Hughes

A memorial library in Sunnyside School honoring the late Miss Marie Hughes was virtually assured by action of the Washington C. H. Parent - Teacher Assn. Council at Monday night's meeting in the high school.

The Council voted a contribution of $5 to a fund, already started by former pupils of Miss Hughes, to establish the library. Miss Hughes, who died suddenly after collapsing at a school open house early this month, had been a teacher in the Sunnyside School for 29 years.

The Council vote dto participate in the establishment of the library after the treasurer, Mrs. Robert Fortier, reported that $140.92 was netted by the magic show sponsored a couple of weeks ago by the Council.

Members voted to use the money from the show to buy books for the eight emergency classrooms of the city schools. The books will be selected by the teachers.

Quentin Ciceron, principal of the Sunnyside School, told the Council Miss Hughes had often expressed to him her appreciation of the co-operation she had received as a teacher from the PTA and the Council.

George Inskeep, president of the Council, explained that the Council's $5 contribution to the Memorial Library would be added to the contributions already made by some of her former pupils. He said, too, that any other of her former pupils who want to contribute to the library should call either the principal of the school or the treasurer of the Sunnyside PTA, Mrs. Frank Reno.

The PTA Council is made up of the officers of the five PTA units in the city and the principals of the five elementary schools.

Bigger Allotments, Lower Supports Seen as New Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—An offer of bigger planting allotments for the controlled crops of cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco will be a key feature of the farm program proposals the administration is cooking up.

This offer would go hand in hand with another that would give the Agriculture Department authority to set price supports for these crops at lower levels than now permitted by law.

Aides of Secretary of Agriculture Benson said the administration would insist (unless there should be a broad change in farm policies later) that the acreage-boosting proposal be accompanied by legislative approval of lower supports. In other words, a bill directing larger allotments would be vetoed, they said, unless it permitted lower price props.

These two proposals are based on the Benson contention that if farmers lowered their prices on these commodities, they could sell more, both at home and abroad. Hence, it is contended, there would be need for somewhat larger crops than are produced under present control programs.

Because of the existence of surpluses, planting allotments of most of the controlled crops are determined by legal formulas. Generally speaking the larger the surpluses and the smaller the potential markets, the smaller the allotments must be. In the case of cotton and wheat, for example, the allotments are at the lowest level permitted by law—reflecting big surpluses.

But under the administration proposals now being drafted, the formulas would be changed to permit larger allotments—if price supports were lower.

WORD OF THE 67-year - old President's latest illness brought questions from newsmen as to whether he might be developing the flu.

"I stand by my statement that he has a chill," Mrs. Wheaton replied.

Eisenhower was inoculated against Asian flu last Aug. 26. He had a head-to-toe physical checkup Nov. 10-11 and his doctors at that time pronounced him in excellent health.

After Monday night's state dinner at the White House, Nixon, who escorted Mrs. Eisenhower to the affair, said of the President's illness: "It is exactly what the White House has announced — a chill."

Eisenhower's "chill" freshened memory of the heart attack he suffered in September 1955, and of the intestinal illness which required surgery in June 1956.

Last January he developed a hacking cough which persisted for weeks. And last June he suffered a severe stomach upset which put him down in bed for a day.

PTA Council To Participate In Memorial to Miss Hughes

A memorial library in Sunnyside School honoring the late Miss Marie Hughes was virtually assured by action of the Washington C. H. Parent - Teacher Assn. Council at Monday night's meeting in the high school.

The Council voted a contribution of $5 to a fund, already started by former pupils of Miss Hughes, to establish the library. Miss Hughes, who died suddenly after collapsing at a school open house early this month, had been a teacher in the Sunnyside School for 29 years.

The Council vote dto participate in the establishment of the library after the treasurer, Mrs. Robert Fortier, reported that $140.92 was netted by the magic show sponsored a couple of weeks ago by the Council.

Members voted to use the money from the show to buy books for the eight emergency classrooms of the city schools. The books will be selected by the teachers.

Quentin Ciceron, principal of the Sunnyside School, told the Council Miss Hughes had often expressed to him her appreciation of the co-operation she had received as a teacher from the PTA and the Council.

George Inskeep, president of the Council, explained that the Council's $5 contribution to the Memorial Library would be added to the contributions already made by some of her former pupils. He said, too, that any other of her former pupils who want to contribute to the library should call either the principal of the school or the treasurer of the Sunnyside PTA, Mrs. Frank Reno.

The PTA Council is made up of the officers of the five PTA units in the city and the principals of the five elementary schools.

Bigger Allotments, Lower Supports Seen as New Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—An offer of bigger planting allotments for the controlled crops of cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco will be a key feature of the farm program proposals the administration is cooking up.

This offer would go hand in hand with another that would give the Agriculture Department authority to set price supports for these crops at lower levels than now permitted by law.

Aides of Secretary of Agriculture Benson said the administration would insist (unless there should be a broad change in farm policies later) that the acreage-boosting proposal be accompanied by legislative approval of lower supports. In other words, a bill directing larger allotments would be vetoed, they said, unless it permitted lower price props.

These two proposals are based on the Benson contention that if farmers lowered their prices on these commodities, they could sell more, both at home and abroad. Hence, it is contended, there would be need for somewhat larger crops than are produced under present control programs.

Because of the existence of surpluses, planting allotments of most of the controlled crops are determined by legal formulas. Generally speaking the larger the surpluses and the smaller the potential markets, the smaller the allotments must be. In the case of cotton and wheat, for example, the allotments are at the lowest level permitted by law—reflecting big surpluses.

But under the administration proposals now being drafted, the formulas would be changed to permit larger allotments—if price supports were lower.

Science Seeks Way To Boost Protein Intake

Fortifications Due In Breads, Cereals For Those on Diets

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Scientists are thinking up new ways today to help out those who eat what they like or can afford rather than what would be a nutritionally ideal diet. The food and chemical industries are joining hands in the drive.

A newcomer is the fortification of cereal products with vitamins B6 and B12 and the amino acid l-lysine. This is aimed at giving bread and other cereal products a protein content to offset the diet deficiencies of those who don't or can't eat enough meat, milk and butter.

Pioneer in the fortification of food was the addition of iodine to table salt to improve the diet of persons living in areas where goiter is prevalent. Adding vitamin A to food came later.

Robert R. Williams, of the Williams-Waterman Fund for the Combat of Dietary Diseases, Research Corp., New York, says today seven million dollars of syntheic vitamin A are used annually in foodstuffs and two million dollars of vitamin B1 are added to cereals.

Vitamin D in milk is widely used, especially in colder climates and for children who are bundled up and get little exposure to sunlight, a natural source.

Vitamin A is being added to oleomargarine — to help low income families and especially children, great eaters of bread. Ways are being sought to add it effectively to cooking fats for use in those lands where much of the diet is cooked in fats.

Dr. N. W. Flodin and Dr. J. W. Brown, nutrition scientists with Du Pont, a l-lysine producer, hold that adding one quarter of a pound of the amino acid to 100 pounds of wheat flour give bread and other flour products high efficiency protein similar to that in meat or milk.

They note that in low income brackets here and particularly in underdeveloped lands overseas protein intakes are low because cereals are a high percentage of the diets.

Dr. C. L. Wrenshall, director of technical service of Charles Pfizer & Co. now in the l-lysine field, says that nine slices of standard white bread equal one egg in protein value, but five slices of bread with l-lysine added is the egg's equal.

Williams holds that chemical factories can now make vitamins, except B12, far more cheaply than the farmer can grow them as such. However, the vitamins are there in food as a natural component of the carbohydrates, fats and proteins which the farmer raises because people must have them to eat.

She wouldn't discuss her financial settlement from the asbestos heir. Previous divorce settlements have cost him $1¼ million.

O'Neill Seeks Change in Driver Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill says he is in favor of scrapping the law that requires Ohio motorists to appear personally in order to renew their driver and motor vehicle licenses.

The governor said Monday he will appoint a committee to study the possibility of renewing driver licenses and auto tags by mail.

"Certainly, if it can be done, the average person would welcome a change which would make it possible for him not to have to stand in long lines which occur every March," O'Neill told reporters.

The proposal was made to O'Neill by Alvin I. Krenzler, Cuyahoga County deputy registrar of motor vehicles.

Krenzler also proposed a change in the present law giving deputy registrars 25 cents for each motor vehicle and driver license they issue. He recommended that deputy registrars be placed on set salaries. Krenzler now draws a reported $30,000-plus a year under the fee system.

O'Neill told reporters: "I am basically against the fee system of government because I think it leads to abuses."

The governor said any recommendations the study committee makes will be turned over to the next Legislature for consideration.

School Districts Get State Checks

Washington C. H. and Miami Trace school districts have received checks covering the fourth quarterly settlement under the Ohio School Foundation Program.

Miami Trace district received a total of $45,807.81, while Washington C. H. received $58,310.88 plus $749.89 for home - tutoring of pupils unable to attend the school. Subtracted from the city's total is $651.82 which the city will pay to Miami Trace district as tuition for elementary and high school children from the Children's Home.

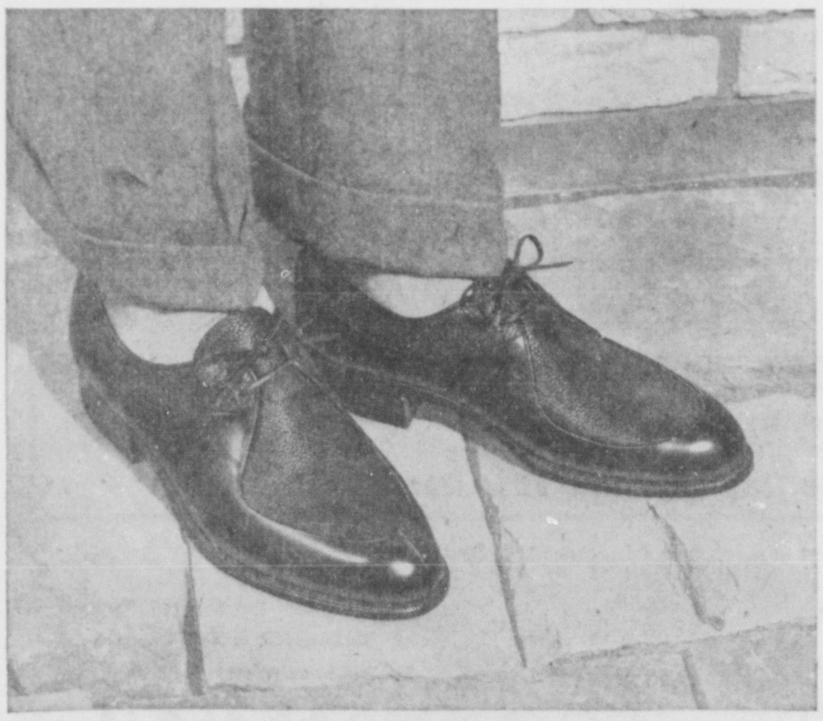

The state equalization fund payments are figured under a complicated formula considering average daily enrollment, total tax valuation and cost of instruction and operation. A basic factor in the formula is that each school district must have at least 10 mills on the tax duplicate.

A newcomer is the fortification of cereal products with vitamins B6 and B12 and the amino acid l-lysine. This is aimed at giving bread and other cereal products a protein content to offset the diet deficiencies of those who don't or can't eat enough meat, milk and butter.

Pioneer in the fortification of food was the addition of iodine to table salt to improve the diet of persons living in areas where goiter is prevalent. Adding vitamin A to food came later.

Robert R. Williams, of the Williams-Waterman Fund for the Combat of Dietary Diseases, Research Corp., New York, says today seven million dollars of syntheic vitamin A are used annually in foodstuffs and two million dollars of vitamin B1 are added to cereals.

Vitamin D in milk is widely used, especially in colder climates and for children who are bundled up and get little exposure to sunlight, a natural source.

Vitamin A is being added to oleomargarine — to help low income families and especially children, great eaters of bread. Ways are being sought to add it effectively to cooking fats for use in those lands where much of the diet is cooked in fats.

Dr. N. W. Flodin and Dr. J. W. Brown, nutrition scientists with Du Pont, a l-lysine producer, hold that adding one quarter of a pound of the amino acid to 100 pounds of wheat flour give bread and other flour products high efficiency protein similar to that in meat or milk.

They note that in low income brackets here and particularly in underdeveloped lands overseas protein intakes are low because cereals are a high percentage of the diets.

Dr. C. L. Wrenshall, director of technical service of Charles Pfizer & Co. now in the l-lysine field, says that nine slices of standard white bread equal one egg in protein value, but five slices of bread with l-lysine added is the egg's equal.

Williams holds that chemical factories can now make vitamins, except B12, far more cheaply than the farmer can grow them as such. However, the vitamins are there in food as a natural component of the carbohydrates, fats and proteins which the farmer raises because people must have them to eat.

O'Neill Seeks Change in Driver Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill says he is in favor of scrapping the law that requires Ohio motorists to appear personally in order to renew their driver and motor vehicle licenses.

The governor said Monday he will appoint a committee to study the possibility of renewing driver licenses and auto tags by mail.

"Certainly, if it can be done, the average person would welcome a change which would make it possible for him not to have to stand in long lines which occur every March," O'Neill told reporters.

The proposal was made to O'Neill by Alvin I. Krenzler, Cuyahoga County deputy registrar of motor vehicles.

Krenzler also proposed a change in the present law giving deputy registrars 25 cents for each motor vehicle and driver license they issue. He recommended that deputy registrars be placed on set salaries. Krenzler now draws a reported $30,000-plus a year under the fee system.

O'Neill told reporters: "I am basically against the fee system of government because I think it leads to abuses."

The governor said any recommendations the study committee makes will be turned over to the next Legislature for consideration.

School Districts Get State Checks

Washington C. H. and Miami Trace school districts have received checks covering the fourth quarterly settlement under the Ohio School Foundation Program.

Miami Trace district received a total of $45,807.81, while Washington C. H. received $58,310.88 plus $749.89 for home - tutoring of pupils unable to attend the school. Subtracted from the city's total is $651.82 which the city will pay to Miami Trace district as tuition for elementary and high school children from the Children's Home.

The state equalization fund payments are figured under a complicated formula considering average daily enrollment, total tax valuation and cost of instruction and operation. A basic factor in the formula is that each school district must have at least 10 mills on the tax duplicate.

Inlaws Give Groom a Test

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never learn if he didn't open his mail, his mind or his ears:

That some Pakistani villagers have an odd way of testing a bridegroom. He is hauled before relatives of the bride who insult him with every abusive term they can call him. The theory: If he can survive the vocabulary of his new inlaws, he can put up with anything from his bride.

That during the next year out of 1,000 people, 320 will be sick once, 140 twice, 50 three times, 20 four or more times. And 470 won't get sick at all, or if they do, they won't brag about it.

That Kate Smith still visits the grave of her dog, Freckles, in Hartsdale Cemetery, at least once a year. The cocker spaniel died five years ago.

That Americans brought an average of 3.15 pairs of shoes each last year. But I'll bet women and children swell the average. Most men I know don't buy more than two pairs.

That there is a small dishwasher on the market now in which the water is agitated by sound waves . . . whether or not the lady of the house is talking over the kitchen telephone.

That if you want to be sure an ink - written address won't be smeared on your Christmas packages, rub the area several times with the stump of a white candle.

That this is one legend on the origin of the phrase "Make mine Manhattan": A Florentine navigator landed on the present site of New York City, and gave the natives liquor. The grateful Indians named this location "Manna-ha-ta," or "Place of Drunkenness."

That the dragonfly is a true creature of the air, and never walks. Its legs are used only to grab prey or serve as landing and lunching gear.

That although the Russians have hurled a dog in a Sputnik 1,000 miles into space, no human being has ever penetrated even five miles into the surface of the earth itself.

That, according to Fisherman magazine, the nation's 21 million anglers spend more than $30 million a year on live bait. So if you want to grow a crop that sells, plant worms.

That the ostrich, contrary to popular belief, doesn't bury its head in the ground when frightened; it runs for the nearest horizon.

A Debate on Religion

By George Sokolsky

In the famous Princeton controversy, which continues, a principal issue in the age old argument between two metaphysicians, Father Hugh Halton, Dominican, graduate of Harvard and Oxford, and W. T. Stace, Stuart professor of philosophy, graduate of Dublin University and once a police magistrate and mayor of Colombo, Ceylon.

The subject of the controversy is religion versus naturalism — is the universe and all that is contained therein the creation of God, that is the product of natural law or is it the work of blind forces working out an indefinable destiny? Is it all causal or casual?

This is a very ancient argument and probably will never end. One side takes it on faith; the other battles for evidence which becomes increasingly elusive as we accumulate more data.

As I write this, I have before me two very important and serious works by Prof. W. T. Stace. One, "Religion and the Modern Mind," has had widespread circulation in colleges and therefore a profound effect upon the minds of young people.

The other, "Time and Eternity," is undoubtedly the more significant work because it is a valid attempt to reach conclusions concerning religion without limiting the study to Christianity. Stace understands the religions of the east.

Usually such a debate has little significance in the practical affairs of men. But we are living in an era of dubious morality, in which men and women and young people believe that all things are relative and therefore no absolutes are tenable.

Whether it is this concept of life that has produced the juvenile delinquency of the 1950's as it may have abetted the adult delinquency of the 1920-1930's, the fact remains that agnosticism and atheism are being widely adopted in many parts of the world at a period of socially perilous immorality.

Both Stace books were published in 1952. In "Religion and the Modern Mind," Professor Stace says:

". . .If the world is not ruled by a designing mind, but only by the blind laws of nature, then . . .the world would be an indiscriminate mixture of good and bad things. . .thus if, as a matter of logic, we treat God as an hypothesis, we find that chance is a better hypothesis than God."

In a word, Stace here rejects the causal, that is God. However, in "Time and Eternity," Stace enters upon the search for God. In the very preface, he describes the basic struggle of the human mind for understanding. He says that the struggle between science and religion continues as the search for God continues. Then he says:

". . .For religion is the hunger of the soul for the impossible, the unattainable, the inconceivable. This is not something which it merely happens to be, an unfortunate accident or disaster which befalls it in the world. This is its essence, and this is its glory. This is what religion means. . ."

Then he adds:

"Religion seeks the light. But it is not a light which can be found at any place or time. It is not somewhere. It is the light which never was on land or sea.' Never was. Never will be, even in the infinite stretches of future time. The light is non-existent, as the poet himself says. Yet it is the great light which lightens the world. And this, too, the poet implies."

Stace reaches the conclusion:

". . .There is but one religious spirit of man, though we speak of many religions. The different religions have been produced by different environments reacting with the same basic human religious sensitivities. And just as an aesthetically sensitive Westerner responds instantly to the appeal of a Chinese painting, so the religiously sensitive Westerner responds instantly to the spiritual vision and religious passion of the Upanishads."

The real conflict between Father Halton and Prof. Stace is not over man's search for God but God's authority over His own creation, man.

In a word, Prof. Stace is eclectic and finds much in all religions, particularly Buddhism and Hinduism with which he is familiar by association and study; Father Halton is the defender of Catholic Christianity, a follower of the Nicene and Apostles' Creeds by belief and vocation.

Such a debate is interesting and important in these times and should not have been reduced to the absurdity of social excommunication.

Ex-Marine Sought for Cincy Stabbing

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police today hunted a young ex Marine they said boasted in a restaurant that he stabbed a Negro youth in a street fight between Negro and white youths.

In the melee Monday night, Carl Lee Levell, 14-year-old Negro, was fatally knifed.

The boy was found lying on a sidewalk in the Over-the-Rhine section of downtown Cincinnati. He had been stabbed between the ribs.

Officers sought for questioning Prentice Meedings, 21, who reportedly told a restaurant patron near the scene of the fight that he knifed a youth.

Police said they had conflicting accounts of the fight.

Investigators quoted Meedings' brother Arland, 17, saying the brothers were walking home when eight Negroes came up behind them and the brawl started.

Arland Meedings said he and his brother broke away and sprinted to the restaurant to seek help.

The dead boy's brother, Robert Levell, 17, told police that the Levell brothers and John Bennie, 18, were walking along a street when four white youths passed and one bumped Carl.

Officers quoted Robert Levell saying two of the white youths drew knives and the three Negroes scattered. When they found Carl a few minutes later, he had been stabbed.

Colostomy Does Not Make You Abnormal

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A Colostomy need not, and normal life. Thousands of persons all over the nation are working, playing and living a perfectly natural existence following this operation.

You would never suspect that these actors, doctors, attorneys, businessmen and housewives have an artificial opening of the bowel on the surface of the abdomen.

They swim, dance, play golf do their housework and gardening and perform all sorts of chores just like everyone else.

I point this out for those of you who recently have had colostomies of those of you who are about to have them.

A colostomy is a substitite for the rectum. Through it the bowel discharges its contents. While it may be an inconvenience at first, when you really stop to think about it, it is a very small price to pay for good health.

As with any other drastic alteration in our daily habits, you have to learn to accept the change and then to live with it.

Naturally you will have to master a simple method of bowel control. Once this is achieved, you're on your way to resuming your normal way of life.

It's not fair for me to advise you to forget your colostomy. You can't do that, of course. And at the beginning, you're apt to feel discouraged and frustrated. Very possibly you will feel that you are "different" from every one else.

Well, remember all those thousands of others I just, told you about. They were in the same boat, so to speak, and mastered their difficulties.

They faced the very same strange, new situation confronting you. They conquered it, and so can you. It takes quite a bit of effort, but it is well worth it.

And don't make the mistake of thinking a colostomy will harm your general health. If you make the adjustments I have mentioned, it won't hurt you a bit.

The real trouble you must remember, has been removed. The portion of the intestine that remains is well able to take care of the body's functions.

Treatment consists in complete and absolute rest and quiet, and the use of phenobarbital under direction of a doctor.

"I don't walk 'em," explained the youngster. "I ride 'em!"

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas E. Murray wraps up the problem the Eisenhower administration and Congress must face next year and later: What to do about atomic secrets?

Murray used to be up to his neck in those secrets. He was a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. Now he's consultant to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. Expressing his own views in a report to the committee Monday night he took this position:

The huge blanket of secrecy thrown over nuclear development was all right so long as this country monpolized the field. It doesn't now. Russia is abreast of us for all practical purposes. Now it's time to share secrets with allies.

But not all secrets, Murray said. Not, for instance, those on the huge atomic weapons of annihilation. Murray thinks this country could hold on to them at least four or five years and retain exclusive right to decide when or whether to use them.

But he believes it's time to exchange information with allies on smaller nuclear weapons that could be used in a limited war and even set up a common stockpile of such weapons.

And he proposes — in dealing with the free world — "complete freedom for the exchange of all scientific and technological information bearing on the use of nuclear energy for human welfare. . ."

Why? For one thing, to increase Allied unity at a time when that's exactly that this country wants to do. For another, it would enable the free world to get the best use of all the brains it has. He puts it this way:

It means a "common body of scientific knowledge and technical skills . . . partnership of technical effort toward the common defense and the common progress that will eliminate useless duplication of effort, meaningless rivalries, and wastage of talent, money and energy. . . . It means a fresh impetus toward scientific progress of all kinds. . . ."

As an example of why he thinks much of the atomic secrecy is out of date, Murray paints this picture:

This country and the Russians are so nearly equal in their nuclear development—and their understanding of nuclear energy and its uses—that any progress one makes over the other is only temporary. Pretty soon the other will catch up.

To sum up: He said American "secrecy cannot halt Soviet progress."

Marysville Man Kidnaped by Boy

CINCINNATI (AP)—A gun-carrying youth who, police said, forced a Marysville motorist to drive him to central Ohio and back, eluded a network set up by police and the State High Patrol Monday night.

The victim, Carl R. Jenny, 55, of Marysville, told police the youth jumped into his car at a street light here and forced him at gunpoint to drive to Columbus and back to near Mason.

Police quoted Jenny saying the man forced him out of the car and sped off, headed north.

Stace, Stuart professor of philosophy, graduate of Dublin University and once a police magistrate and mayor of Colombo, Ceylon.

The subject of the controversy is religion versus naturalism — is the universe and all that is contained therein the creation of God, that is the product of natural law or is it the work of blind forces working out an indefinable destiny? Is it all causal or casual?

This is a very ancient argument and probably will never end. One side takes it on faith; the other battles for evidence which becomes increasingly elusive as we accumulate more data.

As I write this, I have before me two very important and serious works by Prof. W. T. Stace. One, "Religion and the Modern Mind," has had widespread circulation in colleges and therefore a profound effect upon the minds of young people.

The other, "Time and Eternity," is undoubtedly the more significant work because it is a valid attempt to reach conclusions concerning religion without limiting the study to Christianity. Stace understands the religions of the east.

Usually such a debate has little significance in the practical affairs of men. But we are living in an era of dubious morality, in which men and women and young people believe that all things are relative and therefore no absolutes are tenable.

Whether it is this concept of life that has produced the juvenile delinquency of the 1950's as it may have abetted the adult delinquency of the 1920-1930's, the fact remains that agnosticism and atheism are being widely adopted in many parts of the world at a period of socially perilous immorality.

Both Stace books were published in 1952. In "Religion and the Modern Mind," Professor Stace says:

". . .If the world is not ruled by a designing mind, but only by the blind laws of nature, then . . .the world would be an indiscriminate mixture of good and bad things. . .thus if, as a matter of logic, we treat God as an hypothesis, we find that chance is a better hypothesis than God."

In a word, Stace here rejects the causal, that is God. However, in "Time and Eternity," Stace enters upon the search for God. In the very preface, he describes the basic struggle of the human mind for understanding. He says that the struggle between science and religion continues as the search for God continues. Then he says:

". . .For religion is the hunger of the soul for the impossible. the unattainable, the inconceivable. This is not something which it merely happens to be, an unfortunate accident or disaster which befalls it in the world. This is its essence, and this is its glory. This is what religion means. . ."

Then he adds:

"Religion seeks the light. But it is not a light which can be found at any place or time. It is not somewhere. It is the light which never was on land or sea.' Never was. Never will be, even in the infinite stretches of future time. The light is non-existent, as the poet himself says. Yet it is the great light which lightens the world. And this, too, the poet implies."

Stace reaches the conclusion:

". . .There is but one religious spirit of man, though we speak of many religions. The different religions have been produced by different environments reacting with the same basic human religious sensitivities. And just as an aesthetically sensitive Westerner responds instantly to the appeal of a Chinese painting, so the religiously sensitive Westerner responds instantly to the spiritual vision and religious passion of the Upanishads."

The real conflict between Father Halton and Prof. Stace is not over man's search for God but God's authority over His own creation, man.

In a word, Prof. Stace is eclectic and finds much in all religions, particularly Buddhism and Hinduism with which he is familiar by association and study; Father Halton is the defender of Catholic Christianity, a follower of the Nicene and Apostles' Creeds by belief and vocation.

Such a debate is interesting and important in these times and should not have been reduced to the absurdity of social excommunication.

Ex-Marine Sought for Cincy Stabbing

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police today hunted a young ex Marine they said boasted in a restaurant that he stabbed a Negro youth in a street fight between Negro and white youths.

In the melee Monday night, Carl Lee Levell, 14-year-old Negro, was fatally knifed.

The boy was found lying on a sidewalk in the Over-the-Rhine section of downtown Cincinnati. He had been stabbed between the ribs.

Officers sought for questioning Prentice Meedings, 21, who reportedly told a restaurant patron near the scene of the fight that he knifed a youth.

Police said they had conflicting accounts of the fight.

Investigators quoted Meedings' brother Arland, 17, saying the brothers were walking home when eight Negroes came up behind them and the brawl started.

Arland Meedings said he and his brother broke away and sprinted to the restaurant to seek help.

The dead boy's brother, Robert Levell, 17, told police that the Levell brothers and John Bennie, 18, were walking along a street when four white youths passed and one bumped Carl.

Officers quoted Robert Levell saying two of the white youths drew knives and the three Negroes scattered. When they found Carl a few minutes later, he had been stabbed.

Colostomy Does Not Make You Abnormal

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

A Colostomy need not, and normal life. Thousands of persons all over the nation are working, playing and living a perfectly natural existence following this operation.

You would never suspect that these actors, doctors, attorneys, businessmen and housewives have an artificial opening of the bowel on the surface of the abdomen.

They swim, dance, play golf do their housework and gardening and perform all sorts of chores just like everyone else.

I point this out for those of you who recently have had colostomies of those of you who are about to have them.

A colostomy is a substitite for the rectum. Through it the bowel discharges its contents. While it may be an inconvenience at first, when you really stop to think about it, it is a very small price to pay for good health.

As with any other drastic alteration in our daily habits, you have to learn to accept the change and then to live with it.

Naturally you will have to master a simple method of bowel control. Once this is achieved, you're on your way to resuming your normal way of life.

It's not fair for me to advise you to forget your colostomy. You can't do that, of course. And at the beginning, you're apt to feel discouraged and frustrated. Very possibly you will feel that you are "different" from every one else.

Well, remember all those thousands of others I just told you about. They were in the same boat, so to speak, and mastered their difficulties.

They faced the very same strange, new situation confronting you. They conquered it, and so can you. It takes quite a bit of effort, but it is well worth it.

And don't make the mistake of thinking a colostomy will harm your general health. If you make the adjustments I have mentioned, it won't hurt you a bit.

The real trouble you must remember, has been removed. The portion of the intestine that remains is well able to take care of the body's functions.

"I don't walk 'em," explained the youngster. "I ride 'em!"

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thomas E. Murray wraps up the problem the Eisenhower administration and Congress must face next year and later: What to do about atomic secrets?

Murray used to be up to his neck in those secrets. He was a member of the Atomic Energy Commission. Now he's consultant to the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy. Expressing his own views in a report to the committee Monday night he took this position:

The huge blanket of secrecy thrown over nuclear development was all right so long as this country monpolized the field. It doesn't now. Russia is abreast of us for all practical purposes. Now it's time to share secrets with allies.

But not all secrets, Murray said. Not, for instance, those on the huge atomic weapons of annihilation. Murray thinks this country could hold on to them at least four or five years and retain exclusive right to decide when or whether to use them.

But he believes it's time to exchange information with allies on smaller nuclear weapons that could be used in a limited war and even set up a common stockpile of such weapons.

And he proposes — in dealing with the free world — "complete freedom for the exchange of all scientific and technological information bearing on the use of nuclear energy for human welfare. . ."

Why? For one thing, to increase Allied unity at a time when that's exactly that this country wants to do. For another, it would enable the free world to get the best use of all the brains it has. He puts it this way:

It means a "common body of scientific knowledge and technical skills . . . partnership of technical effort toward the common defense and the common progress that will eliminate useless duplication of effort, meaningless rivalries, and wastage of talent, money and energy. . . . It means a fresh impetus toward scientific progress of all kinds. . . ."

As an example of why he thinks much of the atomic secrecy is out of date, Murray paints this picture:

This country and the Russians are so nearly equal in their nuclear development—and their understanding of nuclear energy and its uses—that any progress one makes over the other is only temporary. Pretty soon the other will catch up.

To sum up: He said American "secrecy cannot halt Soviet progress."

Marysville Man Kidnaped by Boy

CINCINNATI (AP)—A gun-carrying youth who, police said, forced a Marysville motorist to drive him to central Ohio and back, eluded a network set up by police and the State High Patrol Monday night.

The victim, Carl R. Jenny, 55, of Marysville, told police the youth jumped into his car at a street light here and forced him at gunpoint to drive to Columbus and back to near Mason.

Police quoted Jenny saying the man forced him out of the car and sped off, headed north.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a serious problem and would appreciate your help in solving it. I am a girl age 20, employed as a secretary. My sister, 23, is a school teacher.

The problem is our mother. Since our father died, some years ago, mother has taken a very possessive attitude concerning us. She still treats us as if we are six-year-olds.

If we go on a date, saying we will be home around 10 o'clock, and don't get back until 11 o'clock instead, she spends several hours lecturing us on filial ingratitude, etc. She threatens to kill herself and keeps the whole household in an uproar.

Because of these inevitable arguments that must be got through, my sister and I are reluctant to date. And neither of us has a steady boy friend. I can understand that mother feels alone in the world, but I can't comprehend this killjoy attitude.

I have advised her to get medical help for her state of mind, which only leads to more argument. I have also considered getting a room and breaking all ties with my home life. However. I would prefer to have things straightened out and normalized, as I feel they should be. What do you suggest?

S. V.

DEAR S.V.: Your mother does need mental help. She is in a mildly depressed state, due as much to her age as to the loss of your father, no doubt.

Bereft of your father's support and companionship in the difficult years of middle age, when a woman's self-confidence tends to sag even in the best of circumstances, she is panicked by a sense of insecurity. So she is clutching at you and your sister to be concerned about her, to make her the center of your day-to-day experience.

But the truth is, you and your sister have a good deal of living to do, quite independently of your mother's society, if you are to mature into wholesome womanhood—a fact that your mother fails to take into account. She has become so steeped in self-concern and self-pity that she has lost sight of your growth-needs.

To chart a morale-building program for your mother, consult with a staff counsellor of the Family Service organization in your part of the country. I've recently had a bulletin from this branch, outlining its homemaker service, "to provide help in solving family and personal problems."

It may be that your mother would perk up and get hold of herself, if you were to clear out amiably—and thus confront her with a bracing necessity to fill in the empty spaces in her life.

Virginia Circle Enjoys Program Friday Night

Mrs. Charles Seibert entertained members of the Virginia Circle of the Jeffersonville Methodist Church Friday night.

Mrs. Seibert, circle leader, read a poem entitled "A Thought for Thanksgiving." She also conducted the devotions and gave the Scripture reading, after which the group repeated the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The program was presented by Mrs. Frank Marshall, who read a poem, "Looking Forward to Thanksgiving." Mrs. Fred DeMent read an interesting article entitled "The Founding of the Ladies Aid."

Mrs. DeMent's article stated that the history of Methodism in America accords major importance to the Old St. John's Church, New York City, which was dedicated in 1768. Probably the first records of the Ladies Aid Society are found in this historic church. The early society gave as its goal "to give financial and spiritual support to exercise all our influence for good."

During the social hour. Mrs. Seibert, assisted by Mrs. Glenn Brock, served tempting refreshments to 10 members and three guests, Mrs. Wayne Dowler, Mrs. Darlene Lemley and Mrs. John Cummins.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I have a serious problem and would appreciate your help in solving it. I am a girl age 20, employed as a secretary. My sister, 23, is a school teacher.

The problem is our mother. Since our father died, some years ago, mother has taken a very possessive attitude concerning us. She still treats us as if we are six-year-olds.

If we go on a date, saying we will be home around 10 o'clock, and don't get back until 11 o'clock instead, she spends several hours lecturing us on filial ingratitude, etc. She threatens to kill herself and keeps the whole household in an uproar.

Because of these inevitable arguments that must be got through, my sister and I are reluctant to date. And neither of us has a steady boy friend. I can understand that mother feels alone in the world, but I can't comprehend this killjoy attitude.

I have advised her to get medical help for her state of mind, which only leads to more argument. I have also considered getting a room and breaking all ties with my home life. However. I would prefer to have things straightened out and normalized, as I feel they should be. What do you suggest?

S. V.

DEAR S.V.: Your mother does need mental help. She is in a mildly depressed state, due as much to her age as to the loss of your father, no doubt.

Bereft of your father's support and companionship in the difficult years of middle age, when a woman's self-confidence tends to sag even in the best of circumstances, she is panicked by a sense of insecurity. So she is clutching at you and your sister to be concerned about her, to make her the center of your day-to-day experience.

But the truth is, you and your sister have a good deal of living to do, quite independently of your mother's society, if you are to mature into wholesome womanhood—a fact that your mother fails to take into account. She has become so steeped in self-concern and self-pity that she has lost sight of your growth-needs.

To chart a morale-building program for your mother, consult with a staff counsellor of the Family Service organization in your part of the country. I've recently had a bulletin from this branch, outlining its homemaker service, "to provide help in solving family and personal problems."

It may be that your mother would perk up and get hold of herself, if you were to clear out amiably—and thus confront her with a bracing necessity to fill in the empty spaces in her life.

Marriage Is OK

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—The state attorney general's office says public school students in New Mexico cannot be expelled because they marry. The opinion, by Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Pyatt, said exclusion of married students from public schools could not be read into New Mexico's constitutional provisions on schooling. Educators have said more and more high school students are marrying while still in school.

Color harmony

PAPERS TO DREAM BY

Bedrooms are very personal rooms . . . as distinguished from "public" rooms like your living room, den or even dining room. For this reason the selection of color and pattern is particularly important in the bedroom. There are wallpapers to suit every personality. A light, informal floral pattern, for instance, is perfect for a young girl -- but be sure to choose colors she enjoys. She'll be living with them! You can find wallpapers as formal or informal, as "masculine" or "feminine" as you like. That's one of the pleasures of decorating with wallpaper!

Wallpaper choice is a personal thing . . . but we'll be glad to guide you through our selections . . to make sure you find what you want. You're welcome to browse!

Studies of Babies Failing To Forecast Their Adulthood

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, Dr. Nancy Bayley, is a psychologist with the National Institute of Mental Health.

By DR. NANCY BAYLEY
(For Jane Eads)

Can you tell how smart your baby is or how smart he'll be when he grows up?

According to the results of 35 years of research into the processes of early growth and development, the answer is "no."

Some children will do certain things ahead of normal schedule and some will be a little behind.

A child who later turns out to be relatively dull may be early in some kinds of infant behavior; one who is slower in infancy may grow up much brighter than normal.

Repeated tests have shown that there is absolutely no relation between the IQs taken during the first and third years.

What good, then, are these measurements of infant behavior?

They are valuable for showing the rate at which an infant is maturing, and for noting whether he is happy and responsive and showing healthy progress in comparison with his earlier growth.

If the baby is unresponsive or shows poor progress in relation to his earlier achievements, steps may be taken to discover the trouble.

Tests taken at the age of 2 are a somewhat better indication of the child's later intelligence. In the 4 or 5-year-old, tests are fairly accurate in predicting the later general level of intelligence.

Few children's IQs, however, remain exactly the same throughout childhood and occasionally a child's IQ may shift as much as 30 points. Most children show some periods of rapid growth and maturation and some of relatively slow growth.

These varying rates of growth depend partly upon the child's inherent growth processes and partly on emotional factors or encouragements and opportunities for development.

Each child has his own pattern of growing intelligence. He inherits a potentiality for mental growth from his parents but he fulfills it only to the extent that he is free from discouragement and depressing emotions and is interested in and encouraged to solve problems and think clearly about things appropriate to his stage of development.

Turkey Prices Are Lowest In Many Years

(By The Associated Press)

The lowest turkey prices in years and plentiful supplies of fruits and vegetables in most areas should make this a happy Thanksgiving for housewives.

Low turkey prices were brought about by a bumper crop of birds.

Many chains are holding to the prices set last week for turkeys and other Thanksgiving items, although some price shaving on turkeys was reported.

Produce men said just about every section of the fresh fruit and vegetable market is in the good buy category.

Cranberries are abundant. There are good stocks of both canned and fresh berries.

Other outstanding buys for the housewife to choose from include cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, celery, eggplant, endive, escarole and potatoes.

Slightly higher in price this week but still in the good buy class are snap beans, broccoli, cucumbers, lettuce, green peppers, squash, radishes and sweet potatoes.

As for fruits, apples and the big three in the citrus division—oranges, grapefuit and tangerines—all are outstanding buys.

Trio Is Accused In Fatal Stabbing

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Three men indicted on charges stemming from a free-for-all fight in which a Dayton man was stabbed to death pleaded innocent Monday in Common Pleas Court.

John Oder, 37, of Cincinnati, and Lloyd Miller, 37, of Hamilton are accused of second degree murder, while Miller and James Lewis, 55, are charged with cutting with intent to kill.

James Crain, 36, of Dayton was killed in the brawl at the Grand Hotel Oct. 5.

Charles Willson (eq) Peal, noted painter of George Washington, used bed ticking for canvas on which to paint his portraits while in the field. Peale was a first lieutenant at Valley Forge.

Next for TV: African Tales

NEW YORK (AP)—Bernard Schubert, who has quite a reputation as a television program creator, took a look in the crystal ball the other day. He saw:

"African adventure series are the coming challenge to TV Westerns — if they're done in an adult manner. I don't think they'll ever ride Westerns off the range, but the chances are that we'll see an increasing number of them."

Schubert is the producer of "White Hunter," a new series of African adventures filmed in Kenya. The series is appearing on numerous stations throughout the country.

Schubert, recently back from Kenya, said:

"Africa is both the most untouched part of the world and at the same time the most tremendously publicized part of the world. In Africa you have combinations of many things — of animals and primitive emotions, for example. These things capture people's imaginations.

"I think that's why movies with an African background have made more money percentage-wise than any other type of movie."

Schubert emphasizes that "White Hunter" is an "adult" program—by "adult" meaning authentic and credible both in background and dramatic situation as compared to some of the utterly incredible TV "African" programs which have been filmed in California.

Auto Crash Burns Fatal to Man, 22

CLEVELAND (AP) — Severely burned when his car caught fire following an accident Saturday, Charles Koebel, 22, of Centerburg, Ohio died at City Hospital Monday night.

Four other persons in the Koebel car including the dead man's brother John, 24, were injured when their car was struck from behind on a bridge.

Police charged the driver of the other car, Kenneth L. Williams, 23, of Cleveland with intoxication, following the accident. They said Williams' car was traveling near 60 m.p.h. when it crashed into the Koebel vehicle.

Kim Novak Wins Her Strike Against Hollywood Studio

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Kim Novak explained today she staged a sit-down strike against her studio because "I don't like to have anyone take advantage of me."

All is rosy now between her and Columbia Pictures, she said. But a month ago they were at stiletto points.

Kim refused to report for a loanout to Alfred Hitchcock. Backed by her agents, she demanded an adjustment in her contract. After a few weeks of name calling, she got it.

"I'm on top now," she explained. "But who knows how long that will continue. I've got to start participating in the profits, too.

"After all, you work hard so you can do the things you want, such as providing things for your family. But I couldn't do that on my salary.

"My salary was $1,250 a week. That sounds like a lot of money, but my take-home pay was around $250. Where does it go? You'd be surprised how easily it can go. And when you're well known, people think you're able to contribute more than others to charity.

"I was unable to buy sufficient clothes for myself. When I wanted to go to a party, I'd have to go to the studio and ask to borrow a dress that Rita Hayworth had worn in a picture. I'd have to get the studio to do my hair, too. They'd complain and ask why I couldn't get it done myself on my salary. Then I'd have to explain the whole thing to them.

"I'm a very independent person, and I didn't like that. Also, I don't like anyone to take advantage of me. The studio was making a great deal of money off me, and I was seeing very little of it."

Kim didn't know exactly what her new salary was, but it apparently is $2,750 a week. That puts her in the 85 per cent tax bracket, she admitted, but at least she is able to buy clothes, hire a secretary and have other deductible expenses, as well as do things for her family.

The studio has also loaned her money to buy a house; it's no gift, as reported — she pays 6 per cent interest. She said that the salary boost is only temporary and next year she goes back to her original contract.

Incas Failed To Find Peru's Copper Treasure

This is Toquepala mine, site of one of the world's truly great copper deposits. However, before the rich red metal can be mined some 126 million tons of rock must be sheared off that towering Andean mountain top.

By GROVER BRINKMAN

INCAPUQUIO, Peru — Recently an explosion shook the city-to-be in a niche of the Andes, so terrific that it rivaled an A-bomb. The blast was caused when 270,000 pounds of dynamite was triggered —the largest mining blast ever discharged.

It was the kickoff to remove the first million tons of rock on top of a mountain called Topuepala. Inside the mountain, scientists say, there are one billion tons of copper ore.

Hidden in the towering Andes, this is a treasure the historically rich Incan empire of centuries ago never found—three copper ore deposits estimated to contain 12 per cent of all the copper in the Free World.

However, to get to the copper is another story. Today American and Peruvian enterprise is launched on the tremendous project—one of the biggest mining ventures ever undertaken in the world.

* * *

ON THE BARREN coastline of southern Peru the once sleepy fishing village of Ilo is the seaport for this venture. Here the Southern Peru Copper Corp. and its major sub-contractors, the Morrison-Knudson and Utah Construction companies, are preparing to unlock these three great ore bodies known as Toquepala, Cuajone and Quellaveco. Toquepala, 12,500 feet above sea level, will be developed first.

However, before Toquepala's copper can be reached, an estimated 126 million tons of rocky overburden must be sliced off this mountain of rock by the might of modern machinery and the efficiency of advanced engineering.

The job is big and expensive. Engineers say it will take four years and a $200 million bankroll before the first copper comes off the mountain. However, beneath Toquepala's crown lies some 490 million tons of rich copper ore! This is a bigger dream than even the old California gold strike.

* * *

THE BIG ADVENTURE began with the amphibious landing of barges bearing initial equipment needed for construction of harbor unloading facilities at Ilo. The harbor is being re-fashioned so deep-draft freighters can come in to dockside.

A 140-mile railroad winding from Ilo up to Toquepala is under construction. Highways are being built. Water supply pipelines stretch 47 miles from a 3-mile-high lake to the mining site. A power system is underway.

Plans are being completed for a smelter, concentrator, communication network, airstrip and a lime plant.

The mushrooming city has been named Incapuquio, and will provide housing and complete conveniences for 12,500 people.

"We shall be moving rock at the rate of one ton per second for the next four years before we get out a nickel's worth of copper," says a company official.

* * *

WHEN that time comes, Toquepala's copper will be mined by the open pit method. Gradually, as open pit operations eat away, the top of the mountain will disappear.

From here copper ore will be transported to a concentrator.

After crushing, the ore will be ground to a fine mesh.

This copper ore mesh will be railroaded more than 100 miles down the rugged Andes to a smelter near Ilo. Here the copper concentrate will be smelted to blister copper, 99 per cent pure.

* * *

DESPITE the time it will take the mine to receive a return on its investment (which will total approximately $200 million by 1960) Southern Peru feels assured that increasing world demand for copper will provide it with plenty of customers throughout the world.

This is truly a new Incan treasure, to be welcomed by Peru's nine and one-half million people.

That isn't all—this will also be the copper center of the world!

Frobisher--Boom Town of Trans-Polar Air Route

By FRED J. WALKER

SAN FRANCISCO — Because airplanes can carry bigger pay loads if they refuel on long range flights, a little known airport on Baffin island, Frobisher, appears destined to be Canada's newest boom town in the air - conquered Arctic region.

This is the enthusiastic opinion of Hans Pederson, senior officer of Canada's department of transport, who is rated one of the top authorities on Canada's Polar area.

Frobisher has been made the refuelling stop for planes' new "time saving" trans-Polar route from America's west coast to northwest Europe.

However, this is just the beginning. Many other airlines of America and Europe have selected Frobisher as their place to "gas up" when they inaugurate Polar service between the continents.

Situated on bleak island which lacks vegetation, Frobisher is possibly the last place in the world one would select as the site of a new boom town.

* * *

HOWEVER, from the standpoint of airplane needs it is just about ideal, according to Pedersen. "It is situated on flat land," he points out, "and the nearest mountains of any size are more than 100 miles distant. This means we can 'stack up' planes indefinitely in bad weather so they can land without danger to other planes.

"Also, we have very little 'bad weather.' Records kept for the past 14 years show only an average of 74 hours per year of weather under the 200 - foot limit. With the installation of the necessary equipment the Frobisher airport should be 99.85 per cent operational."

Pedersen says that the growth which is inevitable due to Frobisher's position on the crossroad of the world will be stimulated by development of vast mineral resources situated on Baffin island.

"There has been no development of our mineral resources," he said. "We have a storehouse of minerals, ranging from uranium to baser metals. And they have not been tapped due to transportation and other problems.

"Frobisher has an excellent deep water harbor and plans are being drafted for a large dock. It is the nearest Canadian Arctic deep sea harbor to Montreal.

* * *

"ALREADY, for three months every summer, large tankers and freighters unload at Frobisher, bringing in all the materials and equipment needed to live comfortably."

At the present time Frobisher has something over 2,500 takeoffs per month, a daily average of 80 or more aircraft. This is expected to double in the next 24 months.

Currently, Frobisher consists of an airport, two Eskimo villages, a Hudson's Bay store, some department of northern affairs installations such as a district office, a small hospital and some houses for the officials, and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

* * *

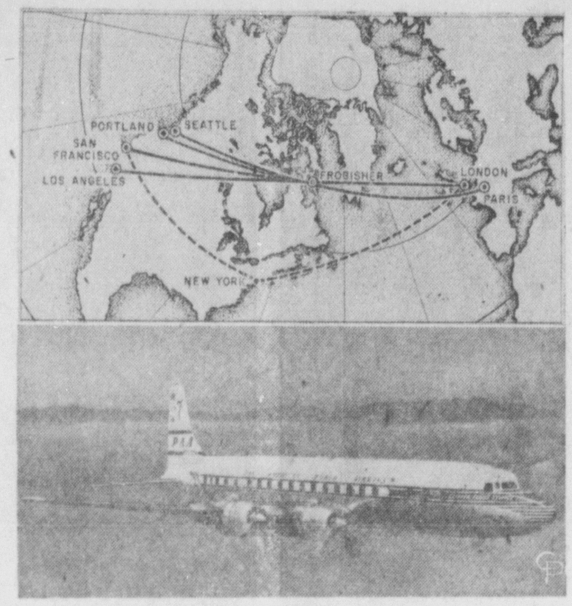

PLANS ARE LAID and money is available for a large power station, a hospital, a new school, a rehabilitation center and numerous dwellings to house the staff required for such activities.

The airport today is merely a fair landing field with inadequate runways and not enough buildings.

The department of transport has nearly completed a new, modern staff house for 60 men; an airline is building a new hangar; the runway will be lengthened to 9,000 feet and resurfaced; a new 6,000-foot taxistrip is nearly completed and other improvements are on the drawing board.

Pedersen is watching the great airport take shape with keen satisfaction. "Soon it will be more—much more — than a stepping stone between the western United States and Europe," he predicts confidently.

"The marvel of air transportation will transform Frobisher into a modern Arctic community hitherto undreamed of by man — tops near the top of the world."

SUMMIT LAKE, Wis. (AP) — It will take more than a highway bypass to sidestep Summit Lake, a determined hamlet of about 100 population.

Fayette Community Orchestra Plays for Sheer Enjoyment

BY DICK McCONNAUGHEY

With its first public appearance at the Jeffersonville Operetta this month the Fayette Community Orchestra came of age.

Appearing with the group were grandpas (perhaps even a grandma!), lots of mothers and many youngsters who play in their own junior and senior high school bands.

Conceived by Karl J. Kay, 1020 Millwood Ave., long-time Washington High School science teacher and currently teaching at Jeffersonville High School, he has regretted the fact that there was no place for certain woodwind or string musicians to continue their playing once they left high school.

"Where could one who enjoyed playing his flute, clarinet, violin or viola continue his pleasure," Kay asked.

* * *

NUMEROUS ORCHESTRAS and bands existed in past years which allowed the "amateur" musician to continue his interest in music. After the breakup of the famed Whelpley Band and the Washington High School Orchestra, some years ago, there was no organization in which the interested amateur could continue his playing.

Today's Fayette Community Orchestra is trying to answer this problem.

Anyone with a sincere interest in music is welcome to the orchestra's one-night-a-week practice sessions, generally held at the home of Common Pleas Judge John P. Case.

Repertoire of the orchestra tends toward the classical and semi-classical. "However," Kay stresses, "modern music is most welcome so far as we are concerned. Someone else will have to conduct, though. I just don't dig some of today's jive."

* * *

AMONG NUMBERS currently being played by the orchestra are selections from "The Student Prince," by Sigmund Romberg, the "Ruy Blas" overture by Mendelssohn and selections from Nicolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor."

Some of the music used by the orchestra is owned by Washington High School and is used on a loan basis. The music was formerly part of the library of the high school orchestra, which was directed by Kay for many years until, temporarily he gave up his musical interests to concentrate on his work as a teacher of science.

Many members of today's orchestra played under Kay during his teaching tenure at the local high school. Some continued their musical careers and saw experience with the Akron Symphony Orchestra and the Wesleyan University Orchestra.

Another played with the Whelpley Band for many years and a former "first chair" violinist of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music Orchestra occupies the same position in the Fayette Community Orchestra today.

* * *

"WE WHO are seriously behind the orchestra," Kay says, "expect only one thing of each member. We expect him to enjoy himself. If he doesn't enjoy playing with the orchestra -- we are doing him a disservice."

"It is also our purpose to encourage all youngsters in playing any musical instrument he desires," Kay continues. "Unfortunately, we feel that the stringed instruments have been too long ignored. Today's bands stress brass and percussion sections, barely recognize some woodwinds and completely pass over the strings."

"We are out to prove, if that has ever been necessary, that fine music and strings are synonymous," Kay has said.

The Fayette Community Orchestra has two March performances scheduled. One will be at a Jeffersonville Parent Teacher Club meeting and the second for the Washington C. H. Cecilians.

FROM 15 TO 25 MUSICIANS generally attend the weekly meeting of the orchestra. Director Karl J. Kay insists that the practices not be long and drops his baton for the last note by 9 p. m..

TWO JEFFERSONVILLE youngsters enjoy playing the semi-classical music. Miss Gayle Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Max Morrow, plays the flute and Jerry Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Smith the saxophone.

MRS. JOHN P. CASE and Mrs. Joe Loudner find a difficult passage on their viola score in one of the semi-classical selections played during an evening's rehearsal.

UNDER THE DIRECTION OF KARL J. KAY, the Community Orchestra meets in the home of Mr and Mrs. John P. Case weekly for practice. It plays more classical music than popular orchestras or school bands, and rehearsal wth the group is considered beneficial to any serious student of music. Conductor Kay is a retired science teacher and organist, but continues his teaching activities.

Fayette Community Orchestra Plays for Sheer Enjoyment

BY DICK McCONNAUGHEY

With its first public appearance at the Jeffersonville Operetta this month the Fayette Community Orchestra came of age.

Appearing with the group were grandpas (perhaps even a grandma!), lots of mothers and many youngsters who play in their own junior and senior high school bands.

Conceived by Karl J. Kay, 1020 Millwood Ave., long-time Washington High School science teacher and currently teaching at Jeffersonville High School, he has regretted the fact that there was no place for certain woodwind or string musicians to continue their playing once they left high school.

"Where could one who enjoyed playing his flute, clarinet, violin or viola continue his pleasure," Kay asked.

* * *

NUMEROUS ORCHESTRAS and bands existed in past years which allowed the "amateur" musician to continue his interest in music. After the breakup of the famed Whelpley Band and the Washington High School Orchestra, some years ago, there was no organization in which the interested amateur could continue his playing.

Today's Fayette Community Orchestra is trying to answer this problem.

Anyone with a sincere interest in music is welcome to the orchestra's one-night-a-week practice sessions, generally held at the home of Common Pleas Judge John P. Case.

Repertoire of the orchestra tends toward the classical and semi-classical. "However," Kay stresses, "modern music is most welcome so far as we are concerned. Someone else will have to conduct, though. I just don't dig some of today's jive."

* * *

AMONG NUMBERS currently being played by the orchestra are selections from "The Student Prince," by Sigmund Romberg, the "Ruy Blas" overture by Mendelssohn and selections from Nicolai's "Merry Wives of Windsor."

Some of the music used by the orchestra is owned by Washington High School and is used on a loan basis. The music was formerly part of the library of the high school orchestra, which was directed by Kay for many years until, temporarily he gave up his musical interests to concentrate on his work as a teacher of science.

Many members of today's orchestra played under Kay during his teaching tenure at the local high school. Some continued their musical careers and saw experience with the Akron Symphony Orchestra and the Wesleyan University Orchestra.

Another played with the Whelpley Band for many years and a former "first chair" violinist of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music Orchestra occupies the same position in the Fayette Community Orchestra today.

* * *

"WE WHO are seriously behind the orchestra," Kay says, "expect only one thing of each member. We expect him to enjoy himself. If he doesn't enjoy playing with the orchestra -- we are doing him a disservice."

"It is also our purpose to encourage all youngsters in playing any musical instrument he desires," Kay continues. "Unfortunately, we feel that the stringed instruments have been too long ignored. Today's bands stress brass and percussion sections, barely recognize some woodwinds and completely pass over the strings."

"We are out to prove, if that has ever been necessary, that fine music and strings are synonymous," Kay has said.

Miami Trace Replies to Taxpayer Charges

A reply to the eight remaining questions remaining before the Ohio Supreme Court in the suit brought by Miami Trace School District to test the validity of a $1,652,500 bond issue approved by voters in November 1956, was filed with the high court Monday afternoon.

Miss Grace Fern Heck, Springfield, attorney for the Miami Trace Board of Education, admitted only two of the allegations set forth in an answer to the bond suit filed by a group of six taxpayers whom the Supreme Court had previously permitted to enter the proceedings as interveners. She denied all other claims made by intervening defendants.

Miss Heck's pleading followed a partial court decision handed down in the case on Nov. 6. At that time the seven justices dismissed Mrs. Senath Thompson, the board's clerk who was named defendant in the original friendly action, as a party to the suit.

That left only a series of 12 questions raised by the taxpayers (Charles A. Fabb, Frank S. Jackson, Ralph R. Penn, Mrs. C. Elton Rhoad, Maynard A. Wilson and W. A. Rodgers) as matters to be ruled on by the court.

* * *

IN THE SAME Nov. 6 decision, the Ohio Tribunal unanimously sustained the Miami Trace board's request to strike four of the 12 issues raised by the taxpayers and relating to the wording of the original petition, but overruled, 5 to 2, the board's motion to dismiss the other eight.

Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt and Justice Thomas R. Herbert dissented from the majority decision to retain the eight questions, but the court's action left the burden of further proceedings to the Miami Trace board.

Miss Heck's reply admits only that on Nov. 4, 1955, an elector's petition requesting appointment of a citizen's committee was filed with the Fayette County Board of Education and that on Nov. 14, 1955, the Washington C. H. Board of Education passed a resolution requesting representation on the citizens committee.

Her reply denies all other charges made in what is styled the taxpayers' "fourth defense" which holds that the entire bond proceedings including the Nov. 6, 1955, election in Miami Trace district are invalid because of the citizens committee petition.

* * *

IN THE SAME defense the six taxpayers allege that "the Miami Trace Board of Education, the Fayette County Board of Education and County Superintendent W. J. Hilty pursued a course of conduct, including the bond proceedings involved herein, for the purpose of avoiding their respective duties and superseding the mandatory requirements of" the citizens committee law.

These claims are denied by the Miami Trace board which in an earlier pleading branded all 12 defenses raised by the intervening taxpayers as "a sham and frivolous".

Other allegations made by the taxpayers which the Miami Trace counsel denies are these:

That both boards of education, and their employes, used public monies illegally, together with threats and intimidations, to secure passage of the bond issue on Nov. 6, 1956.

That the Clerk, Senath Thompson, failed to comply with the Ohio Bond Act requiring her to certify the depreciation rates of the buildings and other improvements to be purchased with the proceeds of the bonds;

That the Miami Trace Board of Education, after the successful passage of the bond issue, never actually passed a resolution directing its clerk to take the necessary steps to sell the bonds; (The board stated in its petition that such a resolution was passed on April 6, 1957.);

That a portion of the money raised from the bonds will be used to construct a football stadium;

That the board failed to provide a method of paying the interest for the first year upon the bonds, after they are issued. (The board, in September, 1957, certified to the county auditor a budget including this interest payment, but the auditor upon the advice of Fayette County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant, refused to certify it or place it upon the tax duplicate for collection.);

That the Fayette County auditor, Harry Allen, in certifying the tax valuation standing behind the bond issue, made serious errors due to transfers out of Miami Trace School District, and that there is actually insufficient valuation to justify so large a bond issue.

"That the various actions of the (board of education) complained of constitute bad faith or an abuse of discretion on its part sufficient to invalidate said bond proceedings."

* * *

THE MIAMI TRACE BOARD originally sued its clerk in a friendly proceeding April 16, 1957, seeking to establish the authority of the Fayette County Citizens Committee in order to clear the path for the issuance of its bonds.

The board also asked the court to issue a writ of mandamus to compel its clerk to certify the bond issue resolution passed by the board to the county auditor and to sell the bonds for construction of a rural high school and improving existing buildings.

On June 19 the Supreme Court held unanimously that the mere existence of a citizens committee does not restrict the right of a board of education to issue bonds for the purposes proposed by Miami Trace.

But at the same time the court permitted the six taxpayers to intervene as defendants. This group posed its 12 questions, or defenses, on July 15.

The filing of the board's reply Monday afternoon presumably gives the taxpayers an opportunity to file new motions or demurrers as well as make oral arguments.

The ultimate effect probably will be to force trial of those issues not stricken by the court. How long this will delay a final decision in the Miami Trace case is not known.

U. N. Diplomats OK Dag Mission

Success Expected In Mideast Trip

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Diplomats said today U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has a good chance of easing border tensions on his visit to the Middle East and may tackle two other big problems: Palestine refugees and charges that Turkey threatens to invade Syria.

He announced Monday night he will leave Friday for Jordan and will go to other countries in the area if his schedule permits.

U. N. officials indicated that visits to Damascus, Cairo and Jerusalem may follow the trip to Amman. Syria, Egypt, Israel and Jordan all have been involved in recent flareups.

Hammarskjold's decision to go to the Middle East apparently was spurred by Jordan's rejection of U. S. Marine Col. Byron Leary as a U. N. mediation officer. Jordan said Sunday it considered Leary biased for Israel and would no longer accept his recommendations. New exchanges of gunfire on Israel's borders with Jordan and Syria also appear to have played a part in the decision.

* * *

SHOOTING WAS reported on the Syrian-Israeli border Monday. Israel charged that Syrian troops fired on settlers and on a car near the Israeli village of Dan, close to the area where an Israeli field worker was killed Sunday.

Another version came from Damascus. A Syrian military spokesman said a five-man Israeli unit entered the demilitarized zone and fired on Arab shepherds near Daret el Maghaweer. The spokesman said the Israelis withdrew to Dan, but he mentioned no gunfire there.

Tax Agency Changes Plan On 'Expenses'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Switching signals again, the Internal Revenue Service now says taxpayers may ignore the line on their 1957 income tax returns which calls for their business expense accounts.

But the announcement Monday by Commissioner Russell C. Harrington emphasized that the decision "does not change the long-standing rules which the revenue service has been following with respect to substantiation of deductions when a taxpayer's return is audited."

The law has required since 1921 that the money an employe draws on his expense account be listed as income. He then is allowed to deduct his actual expenses. But the law has been regularly ignored, especially by small taxpayers whose reimbursement only equaled their expenses.

These expenses and deductions were suppose to have been listed on a separate sheet. Then last month the service disclosed that the 1957 forms, which taxpayers will get early next year, call for the totals on the returns themselves. This was done to make it easier to check on big expense accounts in which there may be some tax fraud, but the law made it applicable to expenses of any amount.

Harrington said the decision to ignore the change in the tax form for 1957 was made because the addition of the new line was not made public until after 10 months of the tax year had already gone by. Thus, he said, it had a retroactive effect.

Ferry service between Manhattan and Brooklyn operated from 1638 until it was discontinued in 1942.

TURNCOAT TURNED LOOSE—Former Corp. Edward S. Dickenson leaves prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., a free man after serving a sentence for collaborating with the enemy and informing on fellow Americans who planned escape in Korea. Dickenson got a 10-year term in 1954. It was reduced to five years, then reduced further for good behavior. Dickenson was the first American turncoat to quit Red China. (International)

Expert Says Man Soon To 'Slug' Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Fritz Zwicky, Cal Tech astrophysicist and former rocket expert in Germany, says a man-made meteor possibly could be fired to the moon within the next three months.

Zwicky reported that a few preliminary tests and perhaps $100,000 might result in landing a pound-and-a-half slug on the moon.

Eventually, he added, fragments of such a slug probably could be made to glance off the moon and return to earth.

Zwicky said the slug could be attached to a shaped charge of high explosive. The charge and the slug would be fired aloft by an Aerobee rocket.

In 1946, Zwicky supervised the firing of a V2 rocket equipped with shaped charges. This attempt failed, but last Oct. 16 such charges exploded meteors into space at the highest velocity achieved by a man-made object—40,000 m.p.h.

Rollers for Old Scroll Yield 'New' Book Idea

Here is a book you literally can tell by its "cover." An ancient Sanskrit scroll, 55 feet long and 5½ inches wide, is given a modern mounting on rollers so that it shows through a window when a knob is turned. It took an artist and writer more than three years to prepare the scroll, and it contains Disney-like pictures.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Assn.

CHICAGO, Ill. — A new - style "mechanical book" has resulted from the challenge of a collector of ancient manuscripts to modern bookmakers to find a way to make readable his 55 - foot scroll obtained from a peddler in seldom - visited Ugaipur, th eso - called "Venice of India."

After Joel Spitz of Glencoe, Ill., a fellow of the Morgan library and a council member of the Caxton club to which many leading book collectors belong, had his suspicions confirmed by experts at the University of Chicago that his find is an extremely interesting Sanskrit version of the Bhagavata Purana he gave the rare book department of R. R. Donnelley's here the assignment of making a Twentieth Century scroll case.

The result is something about the size of the average family Bible which may teach a lesson or two in convenient book design to moderns.

The five and one-half-inch wide strip of text and colored illustrations on parchment, which took upward of three years to create in a single copy, now turns smoothly on rollers below a heavy plate glass window in what otherwide looks like an ordinary volume when stood on end in the conventional bookcase.

A READER cannot help but be impressed with the ease of not having to turn what otherwise would have been about 110 pages, and brings a new appreciation for the idea of the ancients to put up their books in continuous rolls.

Although scholars calculate that the scroll originally was prepared between 1650 and 1750 A. D., the dyes in its illuminations and multi - colored borders still are brilliant.

The Indian artist was something of a predecessor to Walt Disney, for he imparts "movement" to the pictures by such techniques as drawing 20 "stills" in a circle to show a man turning.

The Sanskrit text relates a series of incidents about Shri Krishna, Hindu diety and destroyer of evil. Many of the pictures show Krishna as traditionally represented, with purple garments and body. Also shown in the illustrations are the monkey god, the elephant god, and angels surprisingly similar to those in Christian art.

* * *

THE PARCHMENT had a few badly worn spots, a few small holes, and some minor "frazzles" along the edges. The bookbinders backed its entire length with 10-foot sections of high quality linen to make it highly flexible and durable for all - time.

It was encased originally in a copper tube. The preservative qualities of such tubes have been demonstrated also by the way similar containers kept for centuries many of the now - famous Dead sea scrolls of the Bible, found several years ago in caves of the Near East.

However, the ancients must not have read their books very much or often, because a scroll in a copper tube is hard to handle.

* * *

JOHN POFELSKI, who not only is a bindery craftsman but also a metal working hobbyist in his home workshop, has contributed the final refinement of the art of scroll - making by making it possible to read it at leisure.

It turns on rollers which are braked by an ingenious tension-changing unit that protects the precious scroll from stresses and strains. The continuous strip slides over a metal plate just below the window in the cover.

Every edge and corner is smoothed, rounded and brightly chrome - plated to minimize friction.

The "covers" are of mahogany covered with goatskin, and the fittings are gold - plated to compliment the artistry of the unknown Indian artist and caligrapher who prepared the handsome scroll itself.

The result is so handy that it suggests to the bookbinders a new way to put up modern works, particularly children's books. Mount a light inside it, and reading-in-bed problems are solved!

This is exclusive of any expenditures in the county by the state for highway purposes, conservation, rents, leases or similar state spending. Highway expenditures alone totaled $241.6 million in the state.

It is the total of distributions of sales tax, gasoline tax, motor vehicle license fees, intangible tax, liquor license money etc. to local governments; all payments to schools, old age pensions and health care, poor relief, other welfare programs and various subsidies.

* * *

OF THE $1,250,755,883 that flowed into the state treasury between July 1, 1956 and June 30, 1957, a total of $484,101,833 was returned by the state auditor's office by check direct to county, city, village, township and school treasuries, and to individuals in welfare payments of various kinds.

This was an increase of almost $58 million over the amount returned during the preceding fiscal year. Schools got most of the increase.

These distributions or payments are classified as follows:

The state distributed $162,598,892 in such funds last year and $145,693,114 the previous year. Fayette County's share of the 1956-57 distributions for local government purposes was $691,251.06.

* * *

SCHOOLS — This includes payments under the school foundation program, vocational education and rehabilitation, special classes for the handicapped, teacher - training scholarships and irreducible debt interest.

During the 1956-57 fiscal year, schools received $181,940,907 from the state, which was $36.7 million more than they received the previous year. School foundation payments totaling $171,405,694 were up more than $35 million.

Schools in Fayette County received $553,957.

* * *

MISCELLANEOUS — These included state subsidies for police and firemen's pension funds, payments to tuberculosis hospitals, funds for civil defense, reimbursement of counties for costs in criminal prosecutions, aid for local libraries, etc. These distributions by the state last fiscal year amounted to $4,773,710 as compared with $4,035,889. Payments to Fayette County for such miscellaneous purposes were $3,369.

State funds accounted for $414,966,566 of the $484,101,833 returned to the counties. Federal funds made up the rest, $69,135,276.

India-U.S. Relations Good, Menon Says

NEW CONCORD (AP)—India and the U. S have a wholesome relationship "based on mutual respect," says India's defense minister, V. K. Krishna Menon.

Rollers for Old Scroll Yield 'New' Book Idea

Here is a book you literally can tell by its "cover." An ancient Sanskrit scroll, 55 feet long and 5½ inches wide, is given a modern mounting on rollers so that it shows through a window when a knob is turned. It took an artist and writer more than three years to prepare the scroll, and it contains Disney-like pictures.

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER
Central Press Assn.

CHICAGO, Ill. — A new - style "mechanical book" has resulted from the challenge of a collector of ancient manuscripts to modern bookmakers to find a way to make readable his 55 - foot scroll obtained from a peddler in seldom - visited Ugaipur, th eso - called "Venice of India."

After Joel Spitz of Glencoe, Ill., a fellow of the Morgan library and a council member of the Caxton club to which many leading book collectors belong, had his suspicions confirmed by experts at the University of Chicago that his find is an extremely interesting Sanskrit version of the Bhagavata Purana he gave the rare book department of R. R. Donnelley's here the assignment of making a Twentieth Century scroll case.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By E. E. KELLEY

Until a few years ago whenever we wished to carry a picture in the Record-Herald, it was necessary to start preparing for it two or three days before it was to be used.

First the picture was taken. Then delay occurred while a commercial photographer was developing, printing and drying the photographs.

Then it was necessary to send the photo to Columbus or Cincinnati, usually by mail, and wait two or three days until the zinc halftone was back and ready for use.

By that time, in spot news matter, the photographs were more or less "moss covered," from a newspaper man's standpoint, and lost much of their news value.

But times have changed in this line as in all others, and now, with latest equipment for handling photographic work and engravings, it is possible, by "stepping on the gas," to have picture in the forms of the Record-Herald 60 minutes after the photograph is taken.

This is made possibly by staff photographers, modern cameras, facilities for developing, printing and quick-drying of photographs, and a Fairchild Scanagraver, where a three-column photograph can be transferred to a plastic plate in 15 minutes. A few minutes later it is ready for imprinting the matrix or mat from which the full-page castings are produced for printing the page.

The "electric eye" engraving machine used by the Record-Herald cost $25,000 and is one of the first 50 such machines produced. It is a marvelous invention and one which makes it possible for quick work in transferring the photograph to the printed page in record time.

DEEPEST SEWER

So far as known the deepest sewer in Washington C. H. is 16 feet, and that is the famous East End sewer, which extends from Paint Creek at the bridge on Elm St., northwestward, crosses Washington Ave. 200 feet west Elm St., and thence across Yeoman and Willard Sts., across the eastern part of the Washington Oaks Addn., across Columbus Ave., at Wilson St., and northward to a point beyond Lewis Rd.

This sewer is five feet in diameter over part of the distance and is built of concrete tile.

The sewer was laid as a WPA project some 20 years ago, and quicksand was encountered about midway across the Old Fairground, which made it necessary to do considerable extra work to hold the big sewer tile in place.

When the sewer was laid it brought to a sudden end a sulphur spring which had bubbled up at the extreme eastern edge of the Old Fairground for a great many years.

Before the big sewer was laid, the easternpart of the city for some distance along the channel of the former open ditch was flooded with water up to three feet in depth.

Now the big sewer carries off floodwaters except in very unusual instances, when the surface water again flows down the old channel course, which now contains a number of buildings.

In one or two instances residence properties were built directly over the big sewer.

"CHEAP JOHN"

It has been a long, long time since "cheap John" stood on a box on a street corner here or sold his wares at county fairs and other gatherings.

"Cheap John" was George Smith whom I knew very well. I have seen him stand on street corners by the hour and hawk his wares, chiefly buggy whips, pocket knives cheap watches, jewelry, and what-have-you.

"Cheap John," as he called himself, and which became a by-name for every street corner hawker, was a ruddy-faced,loud voiced individual, who really knew how to make sales to the crowd of curious who assembled about his little street corner stand, or wherever he was located.

He sometimes paid a small license fee for street-corner selling, and sometimes was allowed to sell without a fee.

One of his favorite stock-in-trade statements to prospective buyers was:

"Let your eyes be your market and your pocketbook your guide, and I tell you folks you are standing in your own light if you don't see a bargain in these wonderful whips at 75 cents each".

"Cheap John" worked the street corners, fairs and gathering places generally for many years, and because of failing sight he was forced to forgo his street-corner sales 45 to 50 years ago. In November, 1917, then totally blind, was taken to the Knights of Pythias home in Springfield, having been a member in good standing of Confidence K. of P. Lodge here for years.

FELLED BY HOAX—Mrs. Catherine James, 70, is comforted by her daughter Theresa in Penn Hills, near Pittsburgh, after collapsing under the cruel shock of a hoax. She answered her phone and heard a voice say, "This is Theresa. I've been shot." Mrs. James' sons, Herbert and John, are Pittsburgh policemen. Moments after she learned her daughter was safe, the aged mother collapsed. (International Soundphoto)

Great Pianist Says He Hits Bad Notes

LONDON (AP)—One of the world's greatest pianists admits that he hits a lot of wrong notes.

"There are two kinds of concert pianists," said 67 - year - old Arthur Rubinstein, "the methodical ones with no heart and never hit a wrong note, and the ones like me who give it all they've got and hit wrong ones."

The Polish-born musician, visiting London as the last stop on his current European tour, added:

"The good pianist is not just the one with an extra octave in his pocket. He has to have a drop of blood, too. I'm one of those and I wring out every drop."

Pistol Shots End Strife in Marriage

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three pistol shots dissolved a strifemarked marriage of 21 years when Mrs. Helen Walter, 42, fired two bullets into the chest of her husband, Bernard, 47, killing him.

Detectives said Mrs. Walter told them her husband returned home drunk after closing his east side tavern early Sunday and beat her with his fists.

She had been beaten by him before, the detectives quoted her as saying, and had several times started and then dropped a suit of divorce. Police said their records showed five intoxication arrests for Walter in the last seven years.

Only 2,277,131 Voted on Nov. 5

COLUMBUS (AP)—Officially, only a total of 2,277,131 Ohioans voted in the Nov. 5 election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown announced the total on the basis of the official canvass of votes reported by county election boards.

The total compared with 2,455,290 for the 1955 election, the last previous off-year balloting.

The official canvass was made by Brown and representatives of Gov. C. William O'Neill, Auditor James A. Rhodes and Atty. Gen. William Saxbe.

Chillicothe Mayor Recount Ordered

COLUMBUS (AP) — Secretary of State Ted Brown Monday voted for a recount of votes cast Nov. 5 in the election for mayor of Chillicothe.

The vote broke a 2-2 tie on the Ross County Board of Elections on the recount issue.

Forrest D. Harper, Republican incumbent, asked the recount in 27 precincts. In the official count, he received 3,541 votes to 3,592 for Everett E. Guver his Democratic opponent.

Harper's recount request was made through Joel D. Clark, Republican county chairman. Two Democrats on the board voted against a recount on grounds that Clark could not act as Harper's agent. Two Republicans favored the recount and Brown sided with them. Brown, a Republican, said Clark could act as Harper's agent.

Mercury offers a Speed-limit Safety Monitor which can be set at any desired speed. A warning chime sounds when this speed is reached — saves having to watch the speedometer.

A power feature that automatically lubricates your car every time you start it.

Mercury offers you power lubrication. It works automatically whenever you start the engine, or push a button on the dash. And each lubrication costs less than one-half cent —cuts down on trips to the service station.

A separate push-button that gives you engine braking on down-hill grades.

All Mercurys equipped with Merc-O-Matic Keyboard Control have a new Hill Control. Just push a button for the extra safety of engine braking. (Your brakes last longer, too.)

Equally important are Mercury's new road-hugging size and weight—and revolutionary Cool-Power Marauder engines. Teamed with Mercury's wonderful new driving aids, they result in a car that can't be matched anywhere for control, handling ease, performance and comfort.

We invite you to try Mercury's new sports-car spirit with limousine ride. Just stop in at our showroom. See how much more your money buys in a Mercury.

People . . . Places . . . and Things

Round about Fayette County

By E. E. KELLEY

Until a few years ago whenever we wished to carry a picture in the Record-Herald, it was necessary to start preparing for it two or three days before it was to be used.

First the picture was taken. Then delay occurred while a commercial photographer was developing, printing and drying the photographs.

Then it was necessary to send the photo to Columbus or Cincinnati, usually by mail, and wait two or three days until the zinc halftone was back and ready for use.

By that time, in spot news matter, the photographs were more or less "moss covered," from a newspaper man's standpoint, and lost much of their news value.

But times have changed in this line as in all others, and now, with latest equipment for handling photographic work and engravings, it is possible, by "stepping on the gas," to have picture in the forms of the Record-Herald 60 minutes after the photograph is taken.

This is made possibly by staff photographers, modern cameras, facilities for developing, printing and quick-drying of photo graphs, and a Fairchild Scanagraver, where a three-column photograph can be transferred to a plastic plate in 15 minutes. A few minutes later it is ready for imprinting the matrix or mat from which the full-page castings are produced for printing the page.

The "electric eye" engraving machine used by the Record-Herald cost $25,000 and is one of the first 50 such machines produced. It is a marvelous invention and one which makes it possible for quick work in transferring the photograph to the printed page in record time.

DEEPEST SEWER

So far as known the deepest sewer in Washington C. H. is 16 feet, and that is the famous East End sewer, which extends from Paint Creek at the bridge on Elm St., northwestward, crosses Washington Ave. 200 feet west Elm St., and thence across Yeoman and Willard Sts., across the eastern part of the Washington Oaks Addn., across Columbus Ave., at Wilson St., and northward to a point beyond Lewis Rd.

This sewer is five feet in diameter over part of the distance and is buil. of concrete tile.

The sewer was laid as a WPA project some 20 years ago, and quicksand was encountered about midway across the Old Fairground, which made it necessary to do considerable extra work to hold the big sewer tile in place.

When the sewer was laid it brought to a sudden end a sulphur spring which had bubbled up at the extreme eastern edge of the Old Fairground for a great many years.

Before the big sewer was laid, the easternpar of the city for some distance along the channel of the former open ditch was flooded with water up to three feet in depth.

Now the big sewer carries off floodwaters except in very unusual instances, when the surface water again flows down the old channel course, which now contains a number of buildings.

In one or two instances residence properties were built directly over the big sewer.

"CHEAP JOHN"

It has been a long, long time since "cheap John" stood on a box on a street corner here or sold his wares at county fairs and other gatherings.

"Cheap John" was George Smith whom I knew very well. I have seen him stand on street corners by the hour and hawk his wares, chiefly buggy whips, pocket knives cheap watches, jewelry, and what-have-you.

"Cheap John," as he called himself, and which became a by-name for every street corner hawker, was a ruddy-faced,loud voiced individual, who really knew how to make sales to the crowd of curious who assembled about his little street corner stand, or wherever he was located.

He sometimes paid a small license fee for street-corner selling, and sometimes was allowed to sell without a fee.

One of his favorite stock-in-trade statements to prospective buyers was:

"Let your eyes be your market and your pocketbook your guide, and I tell you folks you are standing in your own light if you don't see a bargain in these wonderful whips at 75 cents each".

"Cheap John" worked the street corners, fairs and gathering places generally for many years, and because of failing sight he was forced to forgo his street-corner sales 45 to 50 years ago. In November, 1917, then totally blind, was taken to the Knights of Pythias home in Springfield, having been a member in good standing of Confidence K. of P. Lodge here for years.

FELLED BY HOAX—Mrs. Catherine James, 70, is comforted by her daughter Theresa in Penn Hills, near Pittsburgh, after collapsing under the cruel shock of a hoax. She answered her phone and heard a voice say, "This is Theresa. I've been shot." Mrs. James' sons, Herbert and John, are Pittsburgh policemen. Moments after she learned her daughter was safe, the aged mother collapsed. (International Soundphoto)

Great Pianist Says He Hits Bad Notes

LONDON (AP)—One of the world's greatest pianists admits that he hits a lot of wrong notes.

"There are two kinds of concert pianists," said 67 - year - old Arthur Rubinstein, "the methodical ones with no heart and never hit a wrong note, and the ones like me who give it all they've got and hit wrong ones."

The Polish-born musician, visiting London as the last stop on his current European tour, added:

"The good pianist is not just the one with an extra octave in his pocket. He has to have a drop of blood, too. I'm one of those and I wring out every drop."

Pistol Shots End Strife in Marriage

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three pistol shots dissolved a strifemarked marriage of 21 years when Mrs. Helen Walter, 42, fired two bullets into the chest of her husband, Bernard, 47, killing him.

Detectives said Mrs. Walter told them her husband returned home drunk after closing his east side tavern early Sunday and beat her with his fists.

She had been beaten by him before, the detectives quoted her as saying, and had several times started and then dropped a suit of divorce. Police said their records showed five intoxication arrests for Walter in the last seven years.

Only 2,277,131 Voted on Nov. 5

COLUMBUS (AP)—Officially, only a total of 2,277,131 Ohioans voted in the Nov. 5 election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown announced the total on the basis of the official canvass of votes reported by county election boards.

The total compared with 2,455,290 for the 1955 election, the last previous off-year balloting.

Shells Still Alive

BRANDY, Va. (AP)—Three Civil War shells fired in the battle of Brandy Station were recovered from a dry creek bed here by three boys. Fort Meyer experts said they contained black powder and could have been exploded by heat, shock, flame or friction.

Chillicothe Mayor Recount Ordered

COLUMBUS (AP) — Secretary of State Ted Brown Monday voted for a recount of votes cast Nov. 5 in the election for mayor of Chillicothe.

The vote broke a 2-2 tie on the Ross County Board of Elections on the recount issue.

Forrest D. Harper, Republican incumbent, asked the recount in 27 precincts. In the official count, he received 3,541 votes to 3,592 for Everett E. Guver his Democratic opponent.

Harper's recount request was made through Joel D. Clark, Republican county chairman. Two Democrats on the board voted against a recount on grounds that Clark could not act as Harper's agent. Two Republicans favored the recount and Brown sided with them. Brown, a Republican, said Clark could act as Harper's agent.

No License Was Better Than Suspended One

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—When Police Officer Leonard Baber stopped Raymond T. Camoras, 23, for a minor traffic violation he found him trying to eat his driver's license.

"Why?" asked Baber.

"My license was suspended a year ago and I just have to drive a car," was Camoras' puzzling explanation.

Spartans Place 4, OSU 3 On All Big 10 Football Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan State, America's No. 3 football team, placed four players on the All Big Ten football team selected by the Associated Press.

Ohio State, the conference champion, and Iowa's dethroned titlists each had three players named while the other position went to Michigan.

The only unanimous choice on the team was Iowa tackle Alex Karras who was named All America last year. Karras was the only repeater from the 1956 All Big Ten team.

The entire team was made up of seniors with the exception of Ohio State halfback Don Clark, a junior. Joning Clark in the backfield were quarterback Jim Ninowski of Michigan State, halfback Jim Pace of Michigan and Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State.

Kowalczyk, a regular halfback, was named as fullback because of his terrific power. The menacing Spartan missed being a unanimous choice by one first place vote.

Michigan State's two other choices were tackle Pat Burke and center Dan Currie.

Aside from Clark, Ohio State also placed end Leo Brown and guard Aurelius Thomas. Rounding out the team were end Jim Gibbons and guard Frank Bloomquist — both of Iowa.

The backfield of Ninowski, Clark, Pace and Kowalczyk was one of the heaviest named in history. The group averaged 196 pounds topped by Kowalczyk's 205 pounds.

The line wasn't wanting in weight, either. The only player under 200 pounds was Brown often called the "best little end in the country." Brown's 171 pounds brought the line average down to 205 pounds. Karras was the team's heavy man at 233 followed by Currie at 225.

Clark and Currie made the second team last year while Kowalczyk, Pace, Gibbons, Brown and Bloomquist were honorable mentions on the 1956 team.

The decision to put Kowalczyk at fullback was because of a lack of stars at the position. Last year's fullback, Mel Dillard of Purdue, had a poor season and was relegated to honorable mention, Sophomore Bob White of Ohio State, who could become one of the greats, came along too late but made the second team.

Suggestions for Pony Football Betterment Wanted at Meeting

A Pony Football League open meeting for sponsors, coaches and parents will be held in the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Officers for next year will be nominated and a financial report on the program last fall will be made. This will be the principal business, but by no means will it cover the entire agenda.

Considered of equal importance by Dr. Charles Griffiths, the first president of the league, will be a review of last fall's activities and a discussion of plans for next year.

All the problems that developed during the first year will be aired, Dr. Griffiths said, with a view to smoothing them out.

He said: "We are especially anxious for the parents and coaches to be at the meeting, so they can give their views and make suggestions for the betterment of the program."

* * *

THE PONY football program was sponsored by the Boosters Club for boys in the fifth and sixth grades. There were five teams in the league that was patterned, in a general way, after the Little League for baseball.

Dr. Griffiths emphasized that "this is an open meeting and anyone interested in boys and football is more than welcome."

The five sponsors provided 15 uniforms, complete with shoulder and hip pads and helmets, for each squad. The boys provided their own rubber-soled shoes.

Games were played in the high school stadium on Saturday nights.

Ohio State, the conference champion, and Iowa's dethroned titlists each had three players named while the other position went to Michigan.

The only unanimous choice on the team was Iowa tackle Alex Karras who was named All America last year. Karras was the only repeater from the 1956 All Big Ten team.

The entire team was made up of seniors with the exception of Ohio State halfback Don Clark, a junior. Joning Clark in the backfield were quarterback Jim Ninowski of Michigan State, halfback Jim Pace of Michigan and Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State.

Kowalczyk, a regular halfback, was named as fullback because of his terrific power. The menacing Spartan missed being a unanimous choice by one first place vote.

Michigan State's two other choices were tackle Pat Burke and center Dan Currie.

Aside from Clark, Ohio State also placed end Leo Brown and guard Aurelius Thomas. Rounding out the team were end Jim Gibbons and guard Frank Bloomquist — both of Iowa.

The backfield of Ninowski, Clark, Pace and Kowalczyk was one of the heaviest named in history. The group averaged 196 pounds topped by Kowalczyk's 205 pounds.

The line wasn't wanting in weight, either. The only player under 200 pounds was Brown often called the "best little end in the country." Brown's 171 pounds brought the line average down to 205 pounds. Karras was the team's heavy man at 233 followed by Currie at 225.

Clark and Currie made the second team last year while Kowalczyk, Pace, Gibbons, Brown and Bloomquist were honorable mentions on the 1956 team.

The decision to put Kowalczyk at fullback was because of a lack of stars at the position. Last year's fullback, Mel Dillard of Purdue, had a poor season and was relegated to honorable mention, Sophomore Bob White of Ohio State, who could become one of the greats, came along too late but made the second team.

Suggestions for Pony Football Betterment Wanted at Meeting

A Pony Football League open meeting for sponsors, coaches and parents will be held in the Dayton Power & Light Co. auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Officers for next year will be nominated and a financial report on the program last fall will be made. This will be the principal business, but by no means will it cover the entire agenda.

Considered of equal importance by Dr. Charles Griffiths, the first president of the league, will be a review of last fall's activities and a discussion of plans for next year.

All the problems that developed during the first year will be aired, Dr. Griffiths said, with a view to smoothing them out.

He said: "We are especially anxious for the parents and coaches to be at the meeting, so they can give their views and make suggestions for the betterment of the program."

* * *

THE PONY football program was sponsored by the Boosters Club for boys in the fifth and sixth grades. There were five teams in the league that was patterned, in a general way, after the Little League for baseball.

Dr. Griffiths emphasized that "this is an open meeting and anyone interested in boys and football is more than welcome."

The five sponsors provided 15 uniforms, complete with shoulder and hip pads and helmets, for each squad. The boys provided their own rubber-soled shoes.

Games were played in the high school stadium on Saturday nights.

Auburn Voted As No. 1 Grid Team of Nation

Ohio State Is Second With Michigan State Third in Poll by AP

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Auburn, unbeaten and untied Southeastern Conference leader, advanced to the top of the national football rankings today in the season's semifinal Associated Press poll as Michigan State fumbled away its hold on first place.

The defensively stubborn Plainsmen from Alabama, a close second a week ago, polled 1,850 points or the ballots of 227 sports writers and broadcasters. Michigan State, leader by only nine points a week ago, dropped to third after a fumbling performance against Kansas State last Saturday while Ohio State's Rose Bowl-bound Big Ten champions moved into second.

The national college football championship will be decided next week in the final Associated Press Poll. Since the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy was retired by Oklahoma last year, The Associated Press will present a new championship trophy, to be held by the team designated as champion in the final poll.

Only one of the three top contenders for the championship is scheduled to play this week.

Auburn, an easy 29-7 winner over Florida State Saturday, takes on its old rival Alabama, in the season-ending game. All three ranking teams from the Big Ten —Ohio State, Michigan State and Iowa — completed their regular seasons last week.

Auburn has won nine straight games and allowed its opponents only four touchdowns—no more than one in any game.

In this week's balloting, Auburn drew 85 of the 227 first-place votes and 1,850 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc., down to 1 for tenth.

Ohio State, loser to Texas Christian in its opening game but undefeated in Big Ten competition, finished with a rousing 31-14 victory over Michigan. This performance siphoned away some of the support that formerly had gone to Michigan State. The Spartans lost five fumbles and had to stage a last-period rally to beat Kansas State 27-9 in their last game.

Ohio State drew 65 first-place votes and 1,769 points to 41 and 1,713 for Michigan State.

Completing the first 10 were Texas A&M, Oklahoma, Iowa, Mississippi, Navy, Rice and Army. Oklahoma and Iowa moved up from sixth and eighth rankings after last Saturday's victories. Mississippi and Navy, both idle, dropped back a notch or two.

Rice, tieing Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference lead, replaced Notre Dame, loser to Iowa, in the top 10 rankings.

The top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Auburn (85)	1,850
2.	Ohio State (65)	1,769
3.	Michigan State (41)	1,713
4.	Texas A&M	1,370
5.	Oklahoma (8)	1,212
6.	Iowa (7)	1,130
7	Mississippi (6)	967
8.	Navy	709
9.	Rice	384
10	Army	349

The second 10:

11.	Arizona State (11)	193
12.	Notre Dame	141
13.	Mississippi State	138
14.	Wisconsin	94
15.	N. C. State	85
16.	Duke	60
17.	VMI	45
18.	Tennessee	38
19.	Oregon State	37
20.	Florida	27

Truex Sets Record in 4-Mile Event

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Max Truex, formerly from Warsaw, Ind., and now running for the University of Southern California, returned to his native Midwest Monday to sprint the four mile NCAA cross country course here in a record 19:12.3.

His time clipped better than 24 seconds from the former meet record of 19:36.7, set by Charles Capozzolo of Georgetown in 1952. It also wiped out the old course record of 19:28.3 by Henry Kennedy of MSU in 1955.

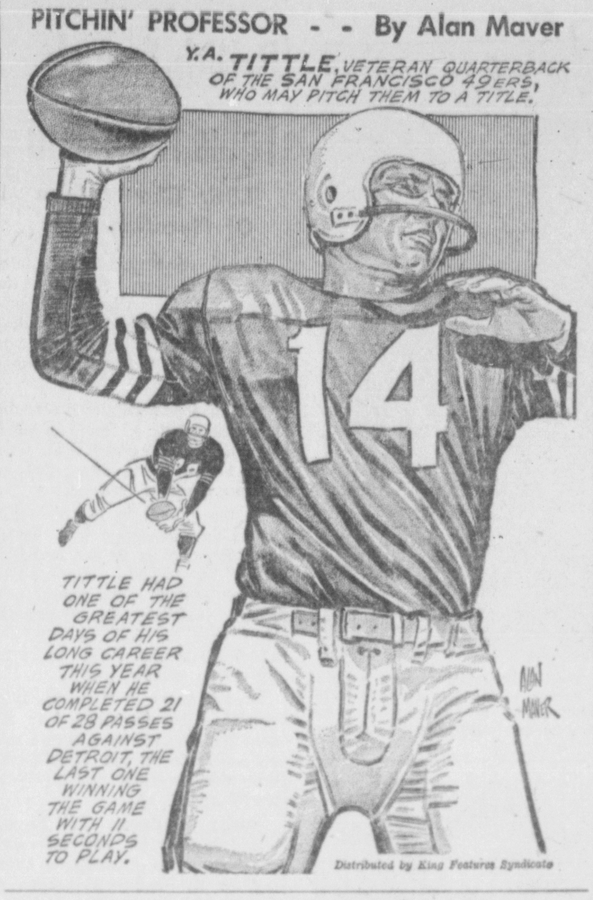

John Macy of Houston was second in 19:35. Macy set a blistering pace, but faltered after the three mile mark, which he reached in 14:25, and Truex easily overhauled him.

Jerry Smartt of Houston was third in 19:41.1. Len Adelen of Minnesota, winner of the Big Ten title, placed fourth in 19:44.0 and Crawford Kennedy of Michigan State, the IC4A champ, was fifth with 19:44.5.

Notre Dame won the team title, its first in the 19-year history of the meet, with a lot of 121 points. Defending Champion Michigan State was second with 128 points.

Judge Blocks West Virginia Championship Football Game

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—A circuit judge has thrown a legal block on state athletic officials' plans for a Thanksgiving Day championship football game.

Judge F. Morton Wagner issued an injunction Monday restraining the West Virginia Secondary School Activities Commission from matching Fairmont West and Weirton in the scheduled Class AA title game Thursday.

Two young football players from Big Creek High School in the Town of War petitioned for the injunction. The players, Robert G. Holbrook and Roy Bellamy, claimed their team lost out on a title game berth because of a "conspiracy" involving W. R. Fugitt, executive secretary of the Activities Commission.

The players, represented by president Homer Hickman of the Big Creek Athletic Commission, said Fugitt conspired with John C. Greer, principal of Weirton High School, to exclude Big Creek from the title game.

The basis of the complaint is the classification of Martins Ferry High School, about 200 miles north of here in Ohio.

The Big Creek petition maintains that:

1. Each Class AA team must play five public schools in their own class to be eligible for the championship game.

2. Martins Ferry, an opponent of Weirton, has had only 274 male students both this year and during the 1956-57 school year and thus falls three shy of the 250 male student requirement for a Class AA school in West Virginia.

3. Although Martins Ferry qualified as a Class AA school in the 1955-56 school year with 299 male students, it should have been reclassified last year under the by-laws of the West Virginia commission.

4. Had Martins Ferry been reclassified, Weirton would not have played enough Class AA teams to qualify for the title game and Big Creek would have gotten the nod to meet Fairmount West on Thanksgiving Day.

Sunday, the same claim by Big Creek was rejected by the Athletic Board of Appeals which said Martins Ferry's Class AA rating was correctly based on the 1955-56 enrollment figure of 299 male students.

The Big Creek players also included a sleeper in their petition Monday. They said two other Weirton opponents—Wheeling Central and Steubenville Catholic—are parochial schools and fail to meet the requirement for the championship that five of a team's opponents must be public schools in the same classification.

Ohioan Named Captain Of 1958 Hawkeye '11'

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — Fullback John Nocera of Youngstown, Ohio, a junior, has been named captain of the 1958 Iowa Hawkeye football team. His teammates elected him at a banquet here Monday night.

Senior guard Bob Cummings, also of Youngstown, received the most valuable player award for this season.

Basketball Clinic Set Up For Fans Here

Basketball fans will have an opportunity to learn something about the fine points of the game at an "information clinic" to be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Washington C. H. High School gym.

Athletic Director Fred Domenico said the clinic will be conducted by Herb Russell, head basketball coach.

The clinic is for all basketball fans, and especially the parents of the Lion eagers, Domenico said.

Coach Russell will explain the rules of the game, describe some of the plays and outline the fundaments and how the skills of the boys are developed along these lines.

The coach also will discuss the strategy of the game and outline how floor maneuvers are designed to carry out different phases of the strategy.

Domenico said: "The average fan may not realize it, but there are as many, if not more, complex plays set up for both offense and defense in basketball as in football."

The WHS cheerleaders also will be at the clinic to explain— with demonstrations— the psychology of vocal support and what it means to the boys on the floor.

O'Connell Feared Benched for Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP) — Stretched muscles in quarterback Tommy O'Connell's shoulder may keep the Cleveland Browns' star out of the final home game Sunday against the Chicago Cards.

But the prospect will not reduce the hopes of Browns' followers nearly as much as it would have prior to the fine showing O'Connell's understudy, rookie Milt Plum, made Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams.

With the former Penn Stater at the helm, the Browns made more points than they have in any game since they beat Detroit 56-10 in the 1954 championship tilt.

Redlegs Dicker With Cards For Pitcher

ST. LOUIS (AP) — General Manager Bing Devine of the Cardinals and Gabe Paul of Cincinnati said they went beyond generalities Monday night in discussing a trade, reportedly involving Redleg catcher Smoky Burgess and Card Pitcher Sam Jones.

No names were mentioned, but it was believed that Paul was after Jones, a big right-hander.

Red Bird Manager Fred Hutchinson told Devine in a conference last week that a prime need for the club is a strong hitting catcher.

Devine, in office only two weeks since Frank Lane resigned, conceded that Paul had made an offer for a front-line pitcher.

Asked if there is a chance for the Cards to obtain the squat Burgess, a dangerous lefthander with home run power, Devine said: "Yes, I think so."

Paul said he would be "willing to wait for Tom Cheney and Tom Hughes (young Cardinal pitchers now in service), if Bing is big-hearted enough to give 'em to us."

Woody Says Bucks His Greatest Team

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes, whose Buckeyes have clinched the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl, says this year's team is "the best I've ever had."

Hayes heaped praise upon the Buckeyes Monday night as a full house turned out at the Ohio Union for a banquet.

"This team hasn't had the greatest individual stars," Hayes told the audience, "but it has been able to come from behind the best, to live together the best, to have fun together the best, and to accept coaching the best. They are just the best team I've ever had. That's all."

Old Grads Tough Enough Now For Thanksgiving Day Game

"You'd be surprised how fast they've rounded into condition," Coach Fred Domenico said as the former WHS Lions left the practice field where they have been getting ready for an Alumni-vs Alumni game at 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day at Gardner Park.

He said some of them admitted they were a bit muscle-sore and weary after the first few workouts, but added that "now they are in good condition and ready to go."

He said he thought "most of them are now in shape to go all the way" in the Thanksgiving Day game.

The two teams are pretty well set up now, but there may be a few changes at this evening's practice. The teams will be made up from the group of 34 "boys" who have been coming out regularly for the practices—and having a lot of fun.

• • •

WITH ONLY a couple of days left to get ready for the kickoff, Coach Domenico (who, incidentally, will be playing, too) said "they have a good offense worked out." Both teams, he said, are using plays they learned in college and some of them are a little fancier than those used in high school.

Of the offense, Domenico said: ". . . well you know how they all like to play offense. . . these men have played enough football to act instinctively and don't need much practice. . ."

The blocking and tackling, too, are both clean and hard and sharp, he said.

Lush Card Offer For Mays Revealed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It comes out now that the St. Louis Cardinals offered $750,000 and several players last June for Willie Mays.

The Globe - Democrat told the story today and Horace Stoneham, owner of the San Francisco Giants, confirmed it.

"We made four offers for Mays, one totaling a million dollars," the Globe - Democrat quoted Frank Lane, who was general manager of the Cardinals until he resigned last week and took a similar job at Cleveland.

One of the Cardinals involved was outfielder Wally Moon.

Pettit Now Leads Pro Cage Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Pettit of St. Louis, an old hot-hand among National Basketball Assn. scorers, has regained the No. 1 spot after a two-week lapse, statistics released today disclosed.

The former Louisiana State ace, sparking the Hawks' rise to the lead in the NBA's Western Division, has accumulated 327 points in 13 games for a nine-point advantage over George Yardley of the Detroit Pistons and Dolph Schayes of the Syracuse Nationals, tied with 318.

Neil Johnston of Philadelphia, with 312, and Bill Sharman of Boston's unbeaten Celtics, with 310, round out the top five.

Surgery To Heal Bob Lemon's Arm

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—An operation on the pitching arm of the Cleveland Indians' Bob Lemon should "prolong his usefulness as a pitcher for quite a while."

That was the opinion of Dr. Danny Leventhal, noted bone surgeon, who removed a spur and bone chip from Lemon's right elbow Monday. Lemon should be ready to go when spring training starts, Dr. Leventhal said. The 37-year-old Lemon was sidelined much of the 1957 season with a sore arm.

Tied for fourth were a pair of Buckeyes, Frank Kremblas and Dick LeBeau. Each had 48 points.

Auburn Voted As No. 1 Grid Team of Nation

Ohio State Is Second With Michigan State Third in Poll by AP

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Auburn, unbeaten and untied Southeastern Conference leader, advanced to the top of the national football rankings today in the season's semifinal Associated Press poll as Michigan State fumbled away its hold on first place.

The defensively stubborn Plainsmen from Alabama, a close second a week ago, polled 1,850 points or the ballots of 227 sports writers and broadcasters. Michigan State, leader by only nine points a week ago, dropped to third after a fumbling performance against Kansas State last Saturday while Ohio State's Rose Bowl-bound Big Ten champions moved into second.

The national college football championship will be decided next week in the final Associated Press Poll. Since the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell Trophy was retired by Oklahoma last year, The Associated Press will present a new championship trophy, to be held by the team designated as champion in the final poll.

Only one of the three top contenders for the championship is scheduled to play this week.

Auburn, an easy 29-7 winner over Florida State Saturday, takes on its old rival Alabama, in the season-ending game. All three ranking teams from the Big Ten —Ohio State, Michigan State and Iowa — completed their regular seasons last week.

Auburn has won nine straight games and allowed its opponents only four touchdowns—no more than one in any game.

In this week's balloting, Auburn drew 85 of the 227 first-place votes and 1,850 points on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc., down to 1 for tenth.

Ohio State, loser to Texas Christian in its opening game but undefeated in Big Ten competition, finished with a rousing 31-14 victory over Michigan. This performance siphoned away some of the support that formerly had gone to Michigan State. The Spartans lost five fumbles and had to stage a last-period rally to beat Kansas State 27-9 in their last game.

Ohio State drew 65 first-place votes and 1,769 points to 41 and 1,713 for Michigan State.

Completing the first 10 were Texas A&M, Oklahoma, Iowa, Mississippi, Navy, Rice and Army. Oklahoma and Iowa moved up from sixth and eighth rankings after last Saturday's victories. Mississippi and Navy, both idle, dropped back a notch or two.

Rice, tieing Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference lead, replaced Notre Dame, loser to Iowa, in the top 10 rankings.

The top 10 with first-place votes in parentheses:

1.	Auburn (85)	1,850
2.	Ohio State (65)	1,769
3.	Michigan State (41)	1,713
4.	Texas A&M	1,370
5.	Oklahoma (8)	1,212
6.	Iowa (7)	1,130
7	Mississippi (6)	967
8.	Navy	709
9.	Rice	384
10	Army	349

The second 10:

11.	Arizona State (11)	193
12.	Notre Dame	141
13.	Mississippi State	138
14.	Wisconsin	94
15.	N. C. State	85
16.	Duke	60

Truex Sets Record in 4-Mile Event

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Max Truex, formerly from Warsaw, Ind., and now running for the University of Southern California, returned to his native Midwest Monday to sprint the four mile NCAA cross country course here in a record 19:12.3.

His time clipped better than 24 seconds from the former meet record of 19:36.7, set by Charles Capozzolo of Georgetown in 1952. It also wiped out the old course record of 19:28.3 by Henry Kennedy of MSU in 1955.

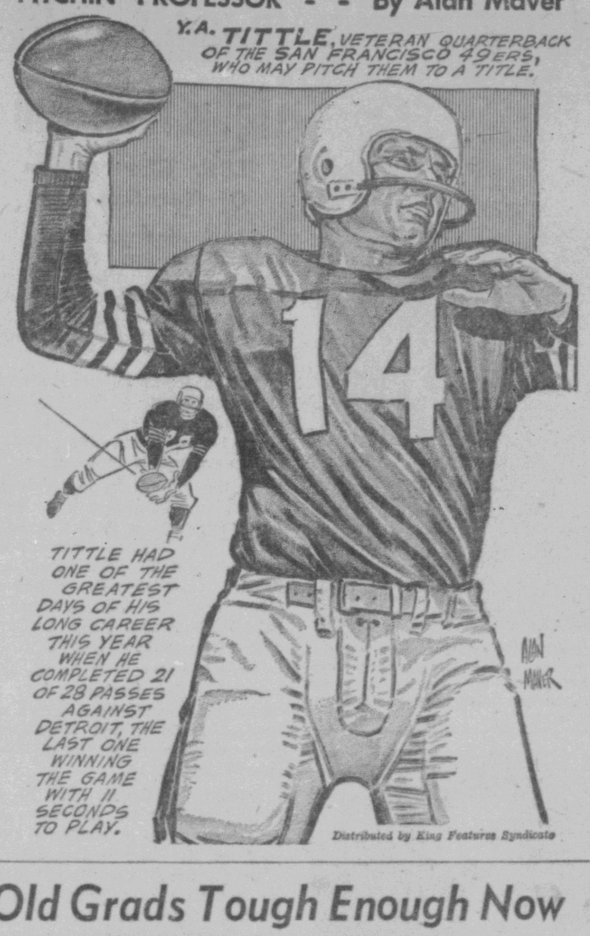

John Macy of Houston was second in 19:35. Macy set a blistering pace, but faltered after the three mile mark, which he reached in 14:25, and Truex easily overhauled him.

Jerry Smartt of Houston was third in 19:41.1. Len Adelen of Minnesota, winner of the Big Ten title, placed fourth in 19:44.0 and Crawford Kennedy of Michigan State, the IC4A champ, was fifth with 19:44.5.

Notre Dame won the team title, its first in the 19-year history of the meet, with a lot of 121 points. Defending Champion Michigan State was second with 128 points.

Old Grads Tough Enough Now For Thanksgiving Day Game

"You'd be surprised how fast they've rounded into condition," Coach Fred Domenico said as the former WHS Lions left the practice field where they have been getting ready for an Alumni-vs Alumni game at 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day at Gardner Park.

He said some of them admitted they were a bit muscle-sore and weary after the first few workouts, but added that "now they are in good condition and ready to go."

He said he thought "most of them are now in shape to go all the way" in the Thanksgiving Day game.

The two teams are pretty well set up now, but there may be a few changes at this evening's practice. The teams will be made up from the group of 34 "boys" who have been coming out regularly for the practices—and having a lot of fun.

• • •

WITH ONLY a couple of days left to get ready for the kickoff, Coach Domenico (who, incidentally, will be playing, too) said "they have a good offense worked out." Both teams, he said, are using plays they learned in college and some of them are a little fancier than those used in high school.

Of the offense, Domenico said: ". . . well you know how they all like to play offense. . .these men have played enough football to act instinctively and don't need much practice. . ."

The blocking and tackling, too, are both clean and hard and sharp, he said.

Lush Card Offer For Mays Revealed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It comes out now that the St. Louis Cardinals offered $750,000 and several players last June for Willie Mays.

The Globe - Democrat told the story today and Horace Stoneham, owner of the San Francisco Giants, confirmed it.

"We made four offers for Mays, one totaling a million dollars," the Globe - Democrat quoted Frank Lane, who was general manager of the Cardinals until he resigned last week and took a similar job at Cleveland.

One of the Cardinals involved was outfielder Wally Moon.

Judge Blocks West Virginia Championship Football Game

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—A circuit judge has thrown a legal block on state athletic officials' plans for a Thanksgiving Day championship football game.

Judge F. Morton Wagner issued an injunction Monday restraining the West Virginia Secondary School Activities Commission from matching Fairmont West and Weirton in the scheduled Class AA title game Thursday.

Two young football players from Big Creek High School in the Town of War petitioned for the injunction. The players, Robert G. Holbrook and Roy Bellamy, claimed their team lost out on a title game berth because of a "conspiracy" involving W. R. Fugitt, executive secretary of the Activities Commission.

The players, represented by president Homer Hickman of the Big Creek Athletic Commission, said Fugitt conspired with John C. Greer, principal of Weirton High School, to exclude Big Creek from the title game.

The basis of the complaint is the classification of Martins Ferry High School, about 200 miles north of here in Ohio.

The Big Creek petition maintains that:

1. Each Class AA team must play five public schools in their own class to be eligible for the championship game.

2. Martins Ferry, an opponent of Weirton, has had only 274 male students both this year and during the 1956-57 school year and thus falls three shy of the 250 male student requirement for a Class AA school in West Virginia.

3. Although Martins Ferry qualified as a Class AA school in the 1955-56 school year with 299 male students, it should have been reclassified last year under the by-laws of the West Virginia commission.

4. Had Martins Ferry been reclassified, Weirton would not have played enough Class AA teams to qualify for the title game and Big Creek would have gotten the nod to meet Fairmount West on Thanksgiving Day.

Sunday, the same claim by Big Creek was rejected by the Athletic Board of Appeals which said Martins Ferry's Class AA rating was correctly based on the 1955-56 enrollment figure of 299 male students.

The Big Creek players also included a sleeper in their petition Monday. They said two other Weirton opponents—Wheeling Central and Steubenville Catholic—are parochial schools and fail to meet the requirement for the championship that five of a team's opponents must be public schools in the same classification.

Ohioan Named Captain Of 1958 Hawkeye '11'

DAVENPORT, Iowa (AP) — Fullback John Nocera of Youngstown, Ohio, a junior, has been named captain of the 1958 Iowa Hawkeye football team. His teammates elected him at a banquet here Monday night.

Senior guard Bob Cummings, also of Youngstown, received the most valuable player award for this season.

Basketball Clinic Set Up For Fans Here

Basketball fans will have an opportunity to learn something about the fine points of the game at an "information clinic" to be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Washington C. H. High School gym.

Athletic Director Fred Domenico said the clinic will be conducted by Herb Russell, head basketball coach.

The clinic is for all basketball fans, and especially the parents of the Lion cagers, Domenico said.

Coach Russell will explain the rules of the game, describe some of the plays and outline the fundaments and how the skills of the boys are developed along these lines.

The coach also will discuss the strategy of the game and outline how floor maneuvers are designed to carry out different phases of the strategy.

Domenico said: "The average fan may not realize it, but there are as many, if not more, complex plays set up for both offense and defense in basketball as in football."

The WHS cheerleaders also will be at the clinic to explain— with demonstrations— the psychology of vocal support and what it means to the boys on the floor.

O'Connell Feared Benched for Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP) — Stretched muscles in quarterback Tommy O'Connell's shoulder may keep the Cleveland Browns' star out of the final home game Sunday against the Chicago Cards.

But the prospect will not reduce the hopes of Browns' followers nearly as much as it would have prior to the fine showing O'Connell's understudy, rookie Milt Plum, made Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams.

With the former Penn Stater at the helm, the Browns made more points than they have in any game since they beat Detroit 56-10 in the 1954 championship tilt.

Redlegs Dicker With Cards For Pitcher

ST. LOUIS (AP) — General Manager Bing Devine of the Cardinals and Gabe Paul of Cincinnati said they went beyond generalities Monday night in discussing a trade, reportedly involving Redleg catcher Smoky Burgess and Card Pitcher Sam Jones.

No names were mentioned, but it was believed that Paul was after Jones, a big right-hander.

Red Bird Manager Fred Hutchinson told Devine in a conference last week that a prime need for the club is a strong hitting catcher.

Devine, in office only two weeks since Frank Lane resigned, conceded that Paul had made an offer for a front-line pitcher.

Asked if there is a chance for the Cards to obtain the squat Burgess, a dangerous lefthander with home run power, Devine said: "Yes, I think so."

Paul said he would be "willing to wait for Tom Cheney and Tom Hughes (young Cardinal pitchers now in service), if Bing is bighearted enough to give 'em to us."

Woody Says Bucks His Greatest Team

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio State football coach Woody Hayes, whose Buckeyes have clinched the Big Ten title and a trip to the Rose Bowl, says this year's team is "the best I've ever had."

Hayes heaped praise upon the Buckeyes Monday night as a full house turned out at the Ohio Union for a banquet.

"This team hasn't had the greatest individual stars," Hayes told the audience, "but it has been able to come from behind the best, to live together the best, to have fun together the best, and to accept coaching the best. They are just the best team I've ever had. That's all."

FORWARD FROM FIFTY

Now Chevrolet takes the giant step with a car that's almost too new to be true! Big, new in length, lowness and width. Boldly new in power and performance. Brilliantly new in the cushioned softness of its ride. Never before has any car been so wonderfully new in so many different ways.

To see what's new this year, feast your eyes on Chevrolet! There's new style. That's written all over Chevrolet in fresh airy lines. And there's brilliant new performance to match the beauty. The 250-h.p. Turbo-Thrust V8* is so new it even looks different.

There's an even smoother Powerglide, the one and only Turboglide, and fuel injection among the superb extra-cost options. Chevy's wheelbase is longer, the body-chassis design sturdier for a more solid ride. There is a new X-type frame, a new foot-operated parking brake. 7-Year-Old Travels 128 Miles on Trip

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Without benefit of ticket, pocket money, baggage or even a coat, 7-year-old Leslie Carter managed to make the first 128 miles of an unannounced trip to visit his parents in Detroit.

Leslie has been living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Umphenour, at Pittsburg, Kan.

He boarded a train in Pittsburg Monday and was in Kansas City by the time they missed him. The conductor and Leslie's seatmate on the train, an understanding nurse, took the traveler in tow in Kansas City and arranged for his return to Pittsburg.

RUSSIA "WAY AHEAD"—Dr. Edward Teller, "father of the H-bomb," takes oath as first witness in the Senate missile-satellite investigation, where he said the U. S. Bleak Future for Farmer Seen if Fails to Progress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bleak future of low incomes and dependence on government subsidies awaits agriculture unless farmers keep abreast of changing times, the president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation declared today.

K. D. Heckathorn, addressing the Federation's 39th annual meeting here, told delegates that agriculture will have to work more closely with industry and labor if the United States is to have a sound economy.

The federation president supported the soil bank program, commenting that it "has a great deal of merit."

"This year," he said, "there were some difficulties in administration, which resulted in abuses but these are being eliminated."

Heckathorn called for a continuation of foreign aid programs.

"We are in a race today with communism for the minds and souls of millions of people who live in the less developed countries of the world," he said. "I think that in our ability to produce food and fiber abundantly we have weapons which are even more potent than Sputniks or intercontinental ballistic missiles."

At Monday's opening session, the Federation honored Albert B. Graham of Columbus, a 90-year-old agriculturist who organized the 4-H Clubs of America near Springfield.

Today, the group pays similar tribute to Charles F. Kettering, Dayton inventor and retired vice president of General Motors Corp. Kettering is being honored for his on the farm, to better living, and inventions, which Heckathorn said, have "led to mechanization on the farm, to better living, and research which has brought new information on plant growth and development."

A number of resolutions are expected to be adopted at today's session. Officers will be elected at Wednesday's concluding session.

WAC Chieftain Sees No Need For Over-All Order on Falsies

TOKYO (AP)—The director of the U. S. Women's Army Corps said today she sees no need for introducing elsewhere a suggestion advanced here that WACs fill out their uniforms with falsies and girdles.

"We like for them to be independent in these matters," said Col. Mary Louise Milligan. "Our commanders are always interested in their women looking well. . . . They take pride in setting the pattern themselves."

Col. Milligan, nearing the end of a Far Eastern inspection tour, also told a news conference WACs could be trained for actual combat if necessary; WACs catch few foreign husbands; and pretty ones do not disrupt work in male offices.

WAC Lt. Jeane Wolcott of Kent, Ohio, told her Yokohama WAC detachment in October to shape up with a little padding here and there and they did.

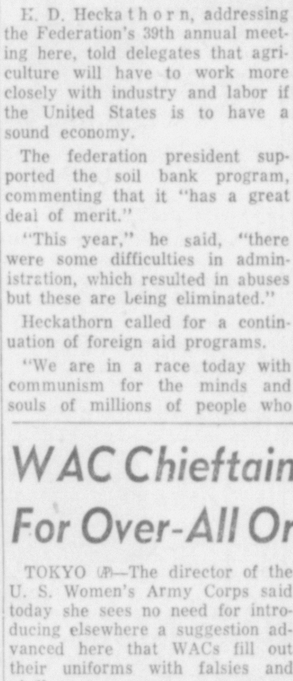

Co. Milligan, appraised of this, noted crisply, "The women are given an allowance for buying them to present a neat form of dress."

Under questioning she acknowledged with their ability, efficiency and edged:

1. Tough WAC sergeants don't exist. "I'm very, very pleased ladylike manners," she said.

2. There is no need at this time to train American women as actual combat forces, "but if it comes to that I'm sure they would be ready to serve. . . . They are psychologically ready."

3. Romantic stories of WACs marrying foreign husbands are just that. "The number of foreign grooms is relatively small . . ." About 20 per cent do win American husbands in their first year in the corps.

Dial Directly To Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP)—Honolulu telephone numbers can now be dialed directly from 2,600 areas on the mainland United States. This city was tied in to the other direct dialing centers when the new telephone cable from Hawaii to San Francisco was tied in to mainland circuits.

Telephone calls were previously placed by radio, through operators at both ends.

British-French Talks Near End

Little Chance Seen Of Placating Paris

PARIS (AP)—British-French talks intended to ease some of the strains in the Atlantic Alliance drew toward an inconclusive close today with little prospect of placating an aroused French public opinion.

British Prime Minister Macmillan scheduled a final two-hour meeting with Premier Felix Gaillard before flying home from a 24-hour round of conferences.

At the top of the list of touchy topics they discussed was the recent shipment of British and U.S. arms to Tunisia over angry French protests. The protests exploded yesterday in demonstrations near the U.S. Embassy by about 300 youths. Police broke up the group without trouble.

French anger at the arms shipments — because they fear the guns will be used by Algerian rebels — again turned attention to the three-year-old rebellion in North Africa.

Public sentiment in France would hardly be satisfied with anything short of complete backing for the country's position in North Africa. Complete backing is something that Britain and the United States have not been willing to extend to changing French governments in the face of Arab demands for independence.

French sources indicated that advisers of the two national leaders were weighing Britain's refusal to give Gillard a pledge on future arms ships.

French informants also said the British reiterated that they had no intention of forming an "atomic aristocracy" with the United States to dominate NATO. France is not an atomic power.

France's Defense Ministry announced, however, that France is now among the world's missile owners. It disclosed two experimental missiles had been successfully fired from the Algerian Sahara Desert to heights of 160 miles at speeds of 3,300 miles an hour.

Jury Completed For Hoffa Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women has been sworn in for the wiretap conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa.

Selection of four alternate jurors starts today.

Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, is on trial with Owen Bernard Brennan, Plymouth, Mich., president of Teamsters Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, Holmes, N. Y., a professional wiretapper.

The three are charged with conspiring here between 1953 and 1957 to tap telephone wires of subordinates in the Teamsters' Detroit headquarters who might be witnesses in rackets probes.

State Calling For Testimony In Lima Trial

LIMA (AP)—Prosecuting attorneys said they are calling more witnesses today in first degree murder trial of Ralph Forsythe.

Forsythe, 42, is charged with fatally shooting Charles Conner, 37, Aug. 10. Conner's body has not been found.

The alleged victim's brother, Milo Conner, took the stand briefly Monday and resumed his testimony today.

Among Monday's 12 prosecution witnesses was Harry Smith of Cleveland, the second of two men who claim they were present in Forsythe's home when Conner was allegedly shot.

Smith said he saw Forsythe shoot Conner and watched Conner slump forward with blood streaming from his mouth.

The second man, Larue Arrington, testified Friday he saw Forsythe shoot Conner, but he said he did not see any blood.

Under cross examination by one of Forsythe's three attorneys, Ernest Navarre, Smith finally admitted taking more than 20 drinks during the evening. He said all of the men had been drinking together at the Forsythe home.

Earlier, Conner's landlady Mrs. Mary Campbell, told the court Conner kept a pistol in his room because as he told her, "It'll make you feel 10 feet tall."

Newest Soviet Officers Told Of Party Goal

MOSCOW (AP) — A month after Russia's top military officer was sacked for resisting Communist party controls, Nikita S. Khrushchev warned the nation's lowliest new officers not to buck the party.

The Communist party boss spoke at a reception Monday night for the graduating class of Moscow's military academies, reviving a custom that lapsed with Stalin's death in 1953.

Like Stalin, Khrushchev used the ceremony to remind the young officers that the party is supreme in Russia. He also called upon them to increase vigilance against "the threat of war whipped up by imperialists."

Khrushchev said Marshal Georgi Zhukov was ousted as defense minister Oct. 26 for opposing political control of the army. "The decision of the Central Committee (to expel Zhukov) aimed at a fundamental improvement of party political work in the armed forces," Khrushchev said.

"The international situation demands that we maintain the defense of our country on the highest levels of modern military techniques and science," the party secretary said.

"The policy of the U. S. ruling circles," he charged, "is aimed at undermining peace. So long as imperialism exists, a situation of war may arise."

7-Year-Old Travels 128 Miles on Trip

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Without benefit of ticket, pocket money, baggage or even a coat, 7-year-old Leslie Carter managed to make the first 128 miles of an unannounced trip to visit his parents in Detroit.

Leslie has been living with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Umphenour, at Pittsburg, Kan.

He boarded a train in Pittsburg Monday and was in Kansas City by the time they missed him. The conductor and Leslie's seatmate on the train, an understanding nurse, took the traveler in tow in Kansas City and arranged for his return to Pittsburg.

RUSSIA "WAY AHEAD"—Dr. Edward Teller, "father of the H-bomb," takes oath as first witness in the Senate missile-satellite investigation, where he said the U. S. Bleak Future for Farmer Seen if Fails to Progress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bleak future of low incomes and dependence on government subsidies awaits agriculture unless farmers keep abreast of changing times, the president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation declared today.

K. D. Heckathorn, addressing the Federation's 39th annual meeting here, told delegates that agriculture will have to work more closely with industry and labor if the United States is to have a sound economy.

The federation president supported the soil bank program, commenting that it "has a great deal of merit."

"This year," he said, "there were some difficulties in administration, which resulted in abuses but these are being eliminated."

Heckathorn called for a continuation of foreign aid programs.

"We are in a race today with communism for the minds and souls of millions of people who live in the less developed countries of the world," he said. "I think that in our ability to produce food and fiber abundantly we have weapons which are even more potent than Sputniks or intercontinental ballistic missiles."

At Monday's opening session, the Federation honored Albert B. Graham of Columbus, a 90-year-old agriculturist who organized the 4-H Clubs of America near Springfield.

Today, the group pays similar tribute to Charles F. Kettering, Dayton inventor and retired vice president of General Motors Corp. Kettering is being honored for his on the farm, to better living, and inventions, which Heckathorn said, have "led to mechanization on the farm, to better living, and research which has brought new information on plant growth and development."

A number of resolutions are expected to be adopted at today's session. Officers will be elected at Wednesday's concluding session.

WAC Chieftain Sees No Need For Over-All Order on Falsies

TOKYO (AP)—The director of the U. S. Women's Army Corps said today she sees no need for introducing elsewhere a suggestion advanced here that WACs fill out their uniforms with falsies and girdles.

"We like for them to be independent in these matters," said Col. Mary Louise Milligan. "Our commanders are always interested in their women looking well. . . . They take pride in setting the pattern themselves."

Col. Milligan, nearing the end of a Far Eastern inspection tour, also told a news conference WACs could be trained for actual combat if necessary; WACs catch few foreign husbands; and pretty ones do not disrupt work in male offices.

WAC Lt. Jeane Wolcott of Kent, Ohio, told her Yokohama WAC detachment in October to shape up with a little padding here and there and they did.

Co. Milligan, appraised of this, noted crisply, "The women are given an allowance for buying them to present a neat form of dress."

Under questioning she acknowledged with their ability, efficiency and edged:

1. Tough WAC sergeants don't exist. "I'm very, very pleased ladylike manners," she said.

2. There is no need at this time to train American women as actual combat forces, "but if it comes to that I'm sure they would be ready to serve. . . . They are psychologically ready."

3. Romantic stories of WACs marrying foreign husbands are just that. "The number of foreign grooms is relatively small . . ." About 20 per cent do win American husbands in their first year in the corps.

HONOLULU (AP)—Honolulu telephone numbers can now be dialed directly from 2,600 areas on the mainland United States. This city was tied in to the other direct dialing centers when the new telephone cable from Hawaii to San Francisco was tied in to mainland circuits.

Telephone calls were previously placed by radio, through operators at both ends

British-French Talks Near End

Little Chance Seen Of Placating Paris

PARIS (AP)—British-French talks intended to ease some of the strains in the Atlantic Alliance drew toward an inconclusive close today with little prospect of placating an aroused French public opinion.

British Prime Minister Macmillan scheduled a final two-hour meeting with Premier Felix Gaillard before flying home from a 24-hour round of conferences.

At the top of the list of touchy topics they discussed was the recent shipment of British and U.S. arms to Tunisia over angry French protests. The protests exploded yesterday in demonstrations near the U.S. Embassy by about 300 youths. Police broke up the group without trouble.

French anger at the arms shipments — because they fear the guns will be used by Algerian rebels — again turned attention to the three-year-old rebellion in North Africa.

Public sentiment in France would hardly be satisfied with anything short of complete backing for the country's position in North Africa. Complete backing is something that Britain and the United States have not been willing to extend to changing French governments in the face of Arab demands for independence.

French sources indicated that advisers of the two national leaders were weighing Britain's refusal to give Gillard a pledge on future arms ships.

French informants also said the British reiterated that they had no intention of forming an "atomic aristocracy" with the United States to dominate NATO. France is not an atomic power.

France's Defense Ministry announced, however, that France is now among the world's missile owners. It disclosed two experimental missiles had been successfully fired from the Algerian Sahara Desert to heights of 160 miles at speeds of 3,300 miles an hour.

Jury Completed For Hoffa Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women has been sworn in for the wiretap conspiracy trial of James R. Hoffa.

Selection of four alternate jurors starts today.

Hoffa, president-elect of the Teamsters Union, is on trial with Owen Bernard Brennan, Plymouth, Mich., president of Teamsters Local 337, and Bernard Spindel, Holmes, N. Y., a professional wiretapper.

The three are charged with conspiring here between 1953 and 1957 to tap telephone wires of subordinates in the Teamsters' Detroit headquarters who might be witnesses in rackets probes.

State Calling For Testimony In Lima Trial

LIMA (AP)—Prosecuting attorneys said they are calling more witnesses today in first degree murder trial of Ralph Forsythe.

Forsythe, 42, is charged with fatally shooting Charles Conner, 37, Aug. 10. Conner's body has not been found.

The alleged victim's brother, Milo Conner, took the stand briefly Monday and resumed his testimony today.

Among Monday's 12 prosecution witnesses was Harry Smith of Cleveland, the second of two men who claim they were present in Forsythe's home when Conner was allegedly shot.

Smith said he saw Forsythe shoot Conner and watched Conner slump forward with blood streaming from his mouth.

The second man, Larue Arrington, testified Friday he saw Forsythe shoot Conner, but he said he did not see any blood.

Under cross examination by one of Forsythe's three attorneys, Ernest Navarre, Smith finally admitted taking more than 20 drinks during the evening. He said all of the men had been drinking together at the Forsythe home.

Earlier, Conner's landlady Mrs. Mary Campbell, told the court Conner kept a pistol in his room because as he told her, "It'll make you feel 10 feet tall."

Newest Soviet Officers Told Of Party Goal

MOSCOW (AP) — A month after Russia's top military officer was sacked for resisting Communist party controls, Nikita S. Khrushchev warned the nation's lowliest new officers not to buck the party.

The Communist party boss spoke at a reception Monday night for the graduating class of Moscow's military academies, reviving a custom that lapsed with Stalin's death in 1953.

Like Stalin, Khrushchev used the ceremony to remind the young officers that the party is supreme in Russia. He also called upon them to increase vigilance against "the threat of war whipped up by imperialists."

Khrushchev said Marshal Georgi Zhukov was ousted as defense minister Oct. 26 for opposing political control of the army. "The decision of the Central Committee (to expel Zhukov) aimed at a fundamental improvement of party political work in the armed forces," Khrushchev said.

"The international situation demands that we maintain the defense of our country on the highest levels of modern military techniques and science," the party secretary said.

"The policy of the U. S. ruling circles," he charged, "is aimed at undermining peace. So long as imperialism exists, a situation of war may arise."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mobile X-ray Unit To Be Here During January

Fayette County TB Group Makes Plans At Meeting Monday

A 10-day visit by a mobile X-ray unit to Fayette County, Jan. 6 to 15, inclusive, for a mass X-ray of all eligible individuals in the county who desire it, was agreed upon a a meeting Monday night of the officers and directors of the Fayette County TB and Health Assn. at its office in the Pavey Bldg.

This mass X-ray, to check on possible tuberculosis suspects, is planned in cooperation with the Fayette County Department of Health. Individuals 15 years of age and over are eligible. The films taken will be examined by expert diagnosticians through the State Health Department at Columbus, and each individual undergoing an X-ray will receive a personal report.

An orientation meeting with officials of the Ohio TB and Health Association was set for Jan. 13, at the time of the next regular officers and directors meeting of the county association. This session will include a discussion of local plans and policies for the future and other matters which are to be brought before the association's annual meeting here in March.

• • •

A REVISED constitution and bylaws, was adopted at Monday night's meeting by the directors. This is in line with suggestions made to all the county associations by the Ohio TB and Health Assn.

The recommendations made by the state organization were followed with a few changes to meet local conditions.

There was discussion of the progress made here in the Christmass Seal sale now underway, and it was reported that while the sale to date has been reasonably satisfactory, a followup letter of appeal is to be mailed at a later date to all who have not as yet contributed to this sale.

The seal furnishes the only funds available for the association here to pursue its efforts against tuberculosis. A careful record is kept of those to whom letters have been sent.

The board also voted that all Fayette County patients in TB institutions will be sent useful Christmas gifts.

William Allen, Route 1, Jeffersonville, a new member of the board, was present at the meeting. He replaces Mrs. Doris Wipert, who recently asked to be relieved of duty.

Full Holiday Here Thursday

Day of Thanksgiving Will Be Observed

Thursday will be a day of thanksgiving for everyone in Fayette County—a holiday from store, office and factory so they can attend the special Thanksgiving Day services that will be held in many of the churches in the community.

The annual union Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Fayette County Ministerial Assn. will be held this year at 7:30 p. m Wednesday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Nearly 5,000 youngsters and 150 teachers in both city and county schools will have a two-day holiday. Schools will be closed Thursday for Thanksgiving Day and will not reopen until the regular time Monday morning.

Jack Daves, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce said virtually all of the stores will be closed. The only possible exceptions will be some of the neighborhood food markets and drug stores—and even they may be closed part of the day.

• • •

SOME restaurants will close, but there will still be enough open to serve turkey dinners to those who want to go out for the day.

Service stations will be open, too, to take care of the traveling public.

While law enforcement officers are not expecting traffic in anything like the volume that jams the highways on weekend holidays, they are expecting through traffic to be heavier than normal and will have full forces on duty.

The court house and city hall offices will be closed all day.

Service at the Washington C. H. Postoffice will be on the usual limited holiday schedule. The lobby will be open from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m. but the windows will be closed. There will be no mail deliveries in either city or on the rural routes, but special delivery mail will be handled as usual. Mail will be distributed to postoffice boxes and outgoing mail will be dispatched on all trucks running that day.

There will be a Record-Herald, but the press time will be advanced in order that employes may have Thanksgiving dinner at home with their families and go to services in the churches of their choice.

For entertainment, there will be a football game between two teams of former WHS Lions at 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day at Gardner Park.

Angeles Forest Fire 75 Pct. Controlled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It may be several more days before the devastating fire in Angeles National Forest is brought completely under control, a Forest Service official said today.

The fire, now five days old, has eaten up about 25,000 acres of precious watershed northeast of Los Angeles. It was reported 75 per cent controlled, but fire fighters were finding it extremely difficult to get men into the northeast sector because of the precipitous and overgrown terrain.

Man Held in Lucas County Admits 'Lifting' Auto Here

A 37-year-old Toledo area man, implicated in more than 40 burglaries around northern Ohio and southern Michigan, has admitted tricking the Carroll Halliday, Inc., Washington C. H. auto agency, out of a 1956 Ford automobile on Nov. 12.

Being held by Wood County (Bowling Green) authorities is Benny Passfiume, 37, of Reynolds Corners, just south of Toledo. He and a partner, James Worden, 42, of Reynolds Corners, have admitted a number of burglaries to officers in Wood and Lucas counties.

Passfiume told Wood County authorities that a 1956 Ford found a 1956 Ford found at his home was taken from Washington C. H. Nov. 12 on a pretense that he was going out for a test run. A woman who was with him when he took the car has not been identified, but might be his 18-year-old wife. The car is beding held for the Halliday Agency by Lucas County authorities.

• • •

PASSFIUME and Worden were arrested in Maumee early Sunday after a burglary in a Wood County school Saturday night. Passfiume's wife was picked up near the scene of the burglary as she cruised around in an auto because she "looked suspicious," but officers arrived at the school too late to flush out the two men.

It was her arrest that led to apprehension of the two men. She is not being held at present.

Preliminary hearing for the two men will be held some time this week, officers in Wood County said.

• • •

THE BURGLARIES admitted included jobs in schools, gas stations and retail establishments. Wood County Deputy Sheriff Cloyce McCiffin said the men took "anything they could find — money, food or goods for resale."

Passfiume commented that "taking that woman along was my downfall." He told officers that he and Worden had gone alone on jobs previously, and if she had not been cruising near the school in the car "I never would have got arrested."

Area Residents Report Seeing Sputnik Rocket

At least three Washington C. H. residents saw the orbiting rocket, which launched the Russian "Sputnik I," pass over this area about 6:14 p. m. Monday.

They were George LeHew, his daughter, Bevan Rae, and Mrs. Ethel Dowler, Lakeview Ave.

They saw the rocket through a rift in the clouds, LeHew said, pointing out that it was almost as bright as the North Star. It was moving very fast, so that it was not visible in the cloud rift for more than 40 seconds, LeHew said.

It was traveling from northwest to southeast.

The rocket was about 240 miles high and is expected to crash to earth somewhere Friday, British scientists have announced.

Most of the sky in this area was overcast at the time, and it required close watching to see the object in its flight.

Zoos in several eastern U. S. cities save the feathers shed by their various bird exhibits. As a favor, they send them to Indians on U. S. western reservations to be used in their war bonnets.

'Producer' For 'Follies' Arrives Here

New York theatrical director Joseph Landis arrived in Washington C. H. Monday to coordinate and produce "High Fever Follies", to be presented Dec. 11 and 12 at the high school auditorium. The local talent musical is being sponsored by the Fayette County Medical Auxilairy and profits will go to Memorial Hospital.

A good turnout of potential performers attended the Talent Party held Monday evening at the American Legion Hall. Everyone was entertained by students of the Jack Sherick School of Dancing, some of whom will appear in the "Follies."

It was announced, however, that more talent is needed for the show —particularly talented adult couples. Mrs. N. M. Reiff is chairman of the talent committee and interested couples are requested to phone her at 4,1331 for an appointment and audition.

Four candidates for the Sultan title have entered the competition. The winning local businessman will be introduced from the stage of the auditorium the first night of the show and will preside, surrounded by a bevy of local dancing girls. Representing the Rotary Club is Ray Brandenburg, Armco's representative is Leo Edwards, Robert Terhune is the Lion's club representative and the Jaycees' candidate is John Sagar, Jr.

Coin containers bearing the photographs of the candidates will be on display in downtown stores and the winning Sultan will be determined by the amount of money placed in his containers. All the contributions will go to the hospital.

U. S. GI Admits Strangulation; Japan Court May Hear Case

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) — The U. S. Army today charged Specialist 3.C. Gregory J. Kupski of Detroit with the strangulation death Nov. 17 of the Japanese wife of an American sailor.

An Army spokesman said a legal opinion would be required to determine whether the Army or Japanese authorities have jurisdiction over the case. A jurisdictional dispute in the William S. Girard case reached the U. S. Supreme Court.

Kupski, 23, was charged with unpremeditated murder of Kazue Eikawa, 25, the wife of Robert Leslie Wescot. Officials at China Lake Naval Base in California said Wescot had been trying since he returned from Japan more than a year ago to bring her to the states.

The Army says Kupski confessed killing the woman, who was found strangled with a blouse in a Yokohama alley. The Army charge carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Japanese Prosecutor Kishiro Katakura said he was investigating the case "on the assumption that Japan has primary jurisdiction over the soldier."

The Army claims jurisdiction on the ground that the murder involved a U. S. soldier and the dependent of another American.

There were some reports the Army wanted to try Kupski in view of the suspension of a three-year sentence given Girard in the firing range killing of a woman scrap collector. Many Japanese newspapers protested that Girard got off too lightly and some military men commented that he would have gotten stiffer justice from a court-martial.

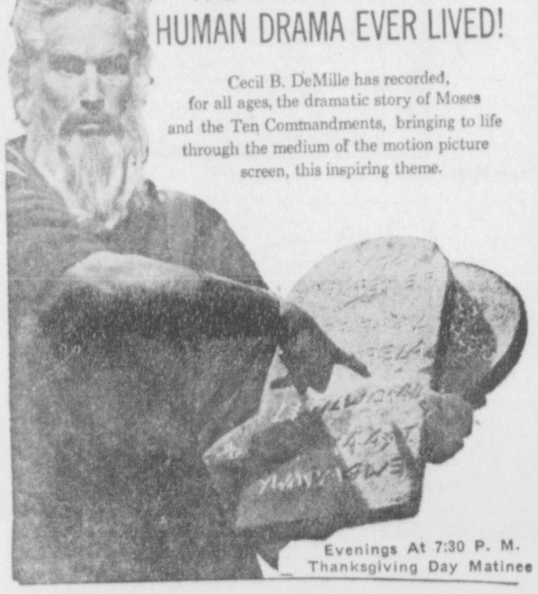

The Army never filed charges against Girard, however, insisting that he was on duty when Mrs. Naka Sakai was fatally shot. There has been no doubt raised that Kupski was off duty.

Mobile X-ray Unit To Be Here During January

Fayette County TB Group Makes Plans At Meeting Monday

A 10-day visit by a mobile X-ray unit to Fayette County, Jan. 6 to 15, inclusive, for a mass X-ray of all eligible individuals in the county who desire it, was agreed upon a a meeting Monday night of the officers and directors of the Fayette County TB and Health Assn. at its office in the Pavey Bldg.

This mass X-ray, to check on possible tuberculosis suspects, is planned in cooperation with the Fayette County Department of Health. Individuals 15 years of age and over are eligible. The films taken will be examined by expert diagnosticians through the State Health Department at Columbus, and each individual undergoing an X-ray will receive a personal report.

An orientation meeting with officials of the Ohio TB and Health Association was set for Jan. 13, at the time of the next regular officers and directors meeting of the county association. This session will include a discussion of local plans and policies for the future and other matters which are to be brought before the association's annual meeting here in March.

• • •

A REVISED constitution and bylaws, was adopted at Monday night's meeting by the directors. This is in line with suggestions made to all the county associations by the Ohio TB and Health Assn.

The recommendations made by the state organization were followed with a few changes to meet local conditions.

There was discussion of the progress made here in the Christmass Seal sale now underway, and it was reported that while the sale to date has been reasonably satisfactory, a followup letter of appeal is to be mailed at a later date to all who have not as yet contributed to this sale.

The seal furnishes the only funds available for the association here to pursue its efforts against tuberculosis. A careful record is kept of those to whom letters have been sent.

The board also voted that all Fayette County patients in TB institutions will be sent useful Christmas as gifts.

William Allen, Route 1, Jeffersonville, a new member of the board, was present at the meeting. He replaces Mrs. Doris Wipert, who recently asked to be relieved of duty.

Full Holiday Here Thursday

Day of Thanksgiving Will Be Observed

Thursday will be a day of thanksgiving for everyone in Fayette County—a holiday from store, office and factory so they can attend the special Thanksgiving Day services that will be held in many of the churches in the community.

The annual union Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Fayette County Ministerial Assn, will be held this year at 7:30 p. m Wednesday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Nearly 5,000 youngsters and 150 teachers in both city and county schools will have a two-day holiday. Schools will be closed Thursday for Thanksgiving Day and will not reopen until the regular time Monday morning.

Jack Daves, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce said virtually all of the stores will be closed. The only possible exceptions will be some of the neighborhood food markets and drug stores—and even they may be closed part of the day.

• • •

SOME restaurants will close, but there will still be enough open to serve turkey dinners to those who want to go out for the day.

Service stations will be open, too, to take care of the traveling public.

While law enforcement officers are not expecting traffic in anything like the volume that jams the highways on weekend holidays, they are expecting through traffic to be heavier than normal and will have full forces on duty.

The court house and city hall offices will be closed all day.

Service at the Washington C. H. Postoffice will be on the usual limited holiday schedule. The lobby will be open from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m. but the windows will be closed. There will be no mail deliveries in either city or on the rural routes, but special delivery mail will be handled as usual. Mail will be distributed to postoffice boxes and outgoing mail will be dispatched on all trucks running that day.

There will be a Record-Herald, but the press time will be advanced in order that employes may have Thanksgiving dinner at home with their families and go to services in the churches of their choice.

For entertainment, there will be a football game between two teams of former WHS Lions at 2 p. m. Thanksgiving Day at Gardner Park.
